

Delaware Valley Survey Assured

WASHINGTON, June 15—A complete resurvey of the Delaware Valley was assured this week when the House Public Works Committee adopted a resolution calling for the review, Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Easton), who introduced the resolution, said the resurvey would be made by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers in the interest of flood control.

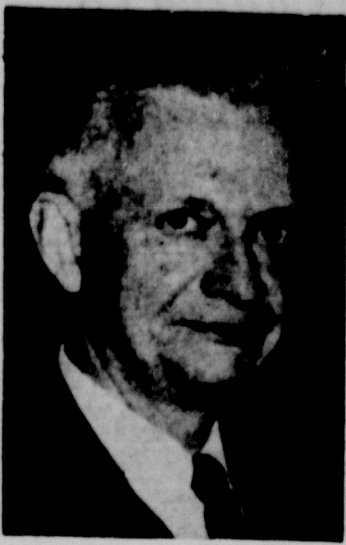

The resolution requests the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors to review the reports on the Delaware River and its tributaries in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York.

Walter said the study was asked "with a view to determining whether improvements in the interests of flood control and allied purposes are advisable at this time, particularly in the Counties of Northampton and Monroe and in the City of Easton."

"The adoption of this resolution insures a complete resurvey of the Delaware Valley and if the states adopt the appropriate legislation, it should be the beginning of an improvement that will ultimately prevent the devastating floods that we have experienced and provide an adequate water supply for the entire tri-state area," Walter said in a statement to The Daily Record.

"I am indeed very happy that this important step has been taken and feel confident that ultimately the entire projected program can be completed."

The resolution is in effect "a moral commitment to see that the work is completed," the congressman said. "A half million dollars, already has been appropriated by Congress for that work."

The three states have to adopt a compact providing for the construction of a series of improvements that will be recommended. Congress will have to approve that compact and there is every assurance it will do so, according to Walter.

Eisenhower Passes Another Milestone On Recovery Road

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—President Eisenhower's doctors announced today he had passed another milestone on the recovery road, but there was still no word whether he would go through with his drive for a second term.

Chrysler Hit With Walkout

DETROIT, June 15 (AP)—Another wildcat strike by 1,100 trim department workers halted production today at eight Chrysler Corp. plants, idling 13,500 workers.

Both the company and the United Auto Workers said the strike was unauthorized. But the union charged a speedup and said the company is "forcing" walkouts to reduce production because of a large inventory of unsold new cars.

A company spokesman said the charges were unfounded.

Mack Plant

Trim department employees at the Mack plant walked out for the sixth time in the past seven work days in a dispute over the disciplinary firings of two union stewards last week.

The company said the strike forced it to close down the Mack plant, the Plymouth assembly plant, the Lynch Road axle plant, the Meldrum body plant, the Mound Road engine plant, the Nine-Mile press plant, the Vernon trim plant, and the Eight-Mile body plant.

The company said the union stewards were fired for leading the first in a series of unauthorized walkouts last Thursday at the Mack plant.

Officials of UAW Local 212 appeared at plant gates in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade workers to stay on their jobs.

A Chrysler spokesman said "The company has asked only that the employees perform their jobs in a proper manner according to fair work standards. The effort to get a fair day's work for a day's pay have absolutely no connection with new car inventories."

Sixteen thousand workers were idled at four Chrysler plants yesterday after trim department employees walked out.

Dates Released For Pen Argyl, Bangor Hearing

HARRISBURG, June 15 (AP)—The Sanitary Water Board today fixed hearings for June 20 and 21 at Harrisburg on the failure of five municipalities to comply with the clean streams program.

Boroughs

They are Pen Argyl, Bangor, Forty Fort, Swoyersville and Plymouth.

None has taken steps to build sewage treatment plants as directed, the board said.

Cabinet Agreement

BONN, June 15 (AP)—The West German Cabinet, in agreement with the French government, has unanimously decided to recognize the independence of Tunisia and Morocco and set up diplomatic relations.

Three Persons Injured In Two-Car Accident

BUSHKILL — Three persons were injured in a two-car collision on Route 209 near DeWitt's Hotel here at 5:45 p.m. yesterday.

Taken by ambulance to General Hospital were both drivers, Bernard M. Gaines, 34, of the Bronx, N. Y., and Mrs. Alma Morrison, 46, Delray Beach, Fla., as well as a passenger in the Morris-son auto, Vera Repper, 61, of Cresco.

Mrs. Morrison was reported in satisfactory condition last night with a chest injury and possible internal injuries.

Gaines suffered a chest injury and bruises to both knees, while the Repper woman received a bruise of the right leg and a wrenched neck. It wasn't certain late

Local Swimmers Rescue Three From Water

HEROIC ACTION by a woman and a young man snatched three small children from near death in fast currents at Stokes Mill yesterday.

The woman is Mrs. Herman Smeltz Jr., Oak St., East Stroudsburg. She is credited with saving the lives of two young girls about seven to nine years old.

The young man is Ronald Armitage, 19, of W. Main St., Stroudsburg. Armitage rescued a boy—the youngest of the three—from swirling undercurrents near the big flat rock in the middle of the Stokes Mill section.

None of the three children's names were known last night. Mrs. Smeltz said that they were apparently from outside the area and that she had never seen them previously.

Mrs. Smeltz is a licensed Red Cross swimming instructor and a senior lifesaver. Her training proved invaluable yesterday afternoon, she said.

The incident occurred at about 3:30 p. m. Stokes Mill, for the third day in a row, was crowded with young people and adults trying to beat the summer heat.

Mrs. Smeltz gave these details after the rescue had been reported to The Daily Record by persons who were on the scene at the time.

The three children were playing near the flat rock. They were accompanied by a woman.

Gradually the children "worked their way down" to the left-hand side of the flat rock, playing in the water.

On this side of the rock, the water deepens sharply at one point. Water currents are much swifter underneath the rock on that side.

Mrs. Smeltz said she heard a childish voice yell "Help!" from the area near the rock.

Because children often yell for help playfully, it is difficult to tell when the real need is there, she said. She did not act immediately.

When she heard the call a second time, however, the East Stroudsburg woman hurried to the aid of the children.

The two girls were farther down in the water than the boy. But because the boy was smaller he was in equal immediate danger, Mrs. Smeltz said.

"I went to help the two girls. Ronnie grabbed the boy and hauled him back to the shore and out of the water," she said.

"I boosted the first girl toward the bank as fast as I could. Then I went after the second girl," Mrs. Smeltz continued.

"She had already gone down twice before I could get to her. I pulled her up and got her safely over to the sandy side of the creek."

Mrs. Smeltz said the woman thanked her and the Armitage youth profusely when the rescue was over and the children were safe. But she did not give them her name in the excitement. No one else seemed to know either, last night.

The children and the woman stayed on the sandy beach on the safe side of the creek the rest of the afternoon, Mrs. Smeltz said.

The water at the danger spot is not abnormally deep, Mrs. Smeltz pointed out. It's above five or six feet. But this is much too deep for young children, she said.

And the current under the surface is furious and dangerous. It is created by the swerving re-direction of water around the corners of the huge rock.

By far the greatest danger in the Stokes Mill section, though, Mrs. Smeltz believes, is this constant yelling for help when none is needed.

Like the boy who cried "Wolf!" when there was no wolf at hand ended up losing the flock of sheep he was supposed to be guarding, the children at Stokes Mill are running the risk of taking their own lives, some day, or the lives of others by "being funny," Mrs. Smeltz pointed out.

Incidents similar to that one yesterday afternoon have happened several times during recent years, Mrs. Smeltz said.

County Road Bids Received

HARRISBURG—State Highway Department yesterday received bids for two highway improvement projects in Monroe County.

Joseph Cicconi & Sons, Ivyland, submitted an unofficial low bid of $127,470 for the bituminous surfacing of 2.41 miles of Route 290 between Canadensis and Ansonia.

A low estimate of $406,847 was submitted by Irving M. Loomis & Sons, Montrose, for concrete paving and construction of two bridges for 1.38 miles on Route 90 between Henryville and Ansonia.

Ronson Negotiations To Resume

NEGOTIATIONS are expected to resume Monday between representatives of the Ronson Corp. and the International Association of Machinists.

Charles E. Beyer of New York, IAM grand lodge representative, said last night he has received word that Federal Mediator Walter Moser of Allentown, has arranged for another meeting at 10 a.m. Monday at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Strike

Meanwhile, some 750 employees remain on strike at Ronson's three East Stroudsburg plants.

The employees have been called to another membership meeting of Lodge 1724 at 8 a.m. Monday at the American Legion Home in East Stroudsburg.

Giles Wins Second Term

POCONO MANOR — John S. Giles, Reading, today was reelected to his second term as president of the Pennsylvania AAA Federation at its annual meeting here.

Others reelected included William E. Bright, Scranton; Stanley Byron, Erie, vice presidents.

Resolution

The 450 delegates attending the meeting unanimously approved a resolution opposing any proposed toll rate increase on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

The resolution states that such a move would be uneconomical and would tend to drive traffic from the superhighway.

*The group also approved renaming the organization the Pennsylvania AAA Federation instead of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation.

Mercury Above Normal

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—Weather Bureau said today its 30-day outlook for mid-June to mid-July calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals west of the Continental Divide, in the North Atlantic States and in the Gulf Coast region.

Deadlock Develops In Steel

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—A deadlock developed today between the Big Three steel firms and the United Steelworkers of America in negotiations on a new contract.

The union rejected wage and other proposals by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic as "entirely inadequate."

Big Three spokesmen replied that to meet the union demands would "touch off another ruinous round of inflation and undermine the business of companies."

The impasse appeared to knock out previously expressed hopes by both union and management for an early settlement.

Possibility

It also raised the possibility of a strike by the 650,000 workers in the basic steel industry when present contracts expire June 30.

However, the two sides will continue to meet. Four-man negotiating teams representing management and the union will get together tomorrow at 10 a.m.

Management negotiators told a news conference they intended to stand firm on at least two points—a five-year contract and a package outlay no greater than what they have offered.

They have estimated this at 17-23 cents the first year, rising to 65 cents over-all the fifth year.

Statement

"That's final," said John A. Stephens, U. S. Steel vice president in charge of industrial relations.

But he added that, aside from these conditions, the Big Three were willing to continue negotiations.

Asked how he felt about the outlook for an agreement, Stephens referred to the union's critical comment on the management offer and said:

"It's hard to be optimistic two or three hours after such a public denunciation of what we had labored so hard over."

"I sincerely hope we will be able to surmount the rather blunt rejection and get an agreement fair to everybody."

Thomas F. Patton, assistant president of Republic, and John Morse, counsel for Bethlehem, signified they were in complete agreement with Stephens.

The Big Three proposed a five-year, no-strike contract calling for annual wage increases for each of the next five years; a layoff pay program, four per cent extra pay for Sunday work, and other benefits.

David J. McDonald, union president, blasted the wage offer as "picaresque" and the other benefits as inadequate.

He said the companies offered a direct wage increase of six cents an hour, plus minor adjustments for skilled employees, but that employees would have to pay 1½ cents an hour more for insurance.

The industry's wage offer, therefore, would result in a take-home pay increase to the average steelworker this year of about a nickel an hour—about two per cent," he said, adding:

Bass Season Opens In Jersey

TRENTON, N. J., June 15 (AP)—The bass fishing season opens in New Jersey tomorrow.

The Division of Fish and Game said the season will run through Nov. 30. The legal minimum length for large and small mouth bass is 12 inches, except in the Delaware River, where the minimum is 9 inches. The season in the Delaware opened today and also runs through Nov. 30.

The daily bag limit in the Delaware will be 10, elsewhere it will be 5.

SUNNYSIDE UP—At end of half-hour's "cooking" in sun two eggs were still slippery, slightly warm, suitable for mixing in egg-nogs, making egg foo young. Here Daily Record society editor Bobby Westbrook—who undertook this scientific expedition inconjunction with photographer Rod MacLeod—peers down at results. No sizzle, no smoke, no fried eggs, no toast—unless you count the slight case of suntan on the experimenters' arms. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

It's No Yolk-Eggs Wouldn't Fry

By Bobby Westbrook
Social Editor

YESTERDAY wasn't so hot. Not hot enough to fry an egg on the sidewalk, as persistent experiments also proved that most people crossing Seventh and Main Sts. are too preoccupied with getting across safely or with their own thoughts to notice things, even anything so odd as raw eggs in the middle of the sidewalk.

The ones who did notice, however, were very helpful:

"A glass over the top would concentrate the heat."

"If the eggs were right on the sidewalk, they'd fry, I bet."

"Where's the toast?"

No Answer

None of them really solved the problem. An additional half hour under glass left the eggs as goosy as before. Still another half hour on the bare sidewalk left them a little dried up and full of ants, but certainly not fried.

As for the toast—it was the photographer and his assistant who were being toasted by the sun when they weren't being roasted by passersby who knew all the time that it couldn't be done.

Commission Okays Sale

HARRISBURG, June 15 (AP)—The Dallas, was authorized by the Public Utility Commission today to sell a million dollars worth of common stock to finance construction of new facilities and plant improvements.

The firm said most of the money will be used in areas served by two recently merged subsidiaries, the Community Telephone Co. and the Blakeslee and Fernridge Telephone Co.

Guess What? It Was Hotter Yesterday Than On Thursday

WHO WOULD'VE guessed it?

It was hotter in Stroudsburg yesterday than it was the day before.

That's the word from Weather Observer William Hagerty, who reported that the mercury jumped to an uncomfortable 93 degrees yesterday afternoon. Thursday's high was 91 in Stroudsburg.

Meanwhile, at Mount Pocono, the thermometer registered 90 degrees at one point during the afternoon.

Incidentally, the weatherman said you'll have to sweat it out until tomorrow. The Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton Airport forecasters predicted some relief should come tomorrow when the mercury will possibly drop to the 80s.

Rumors Of Second Subway Strike Heard In New York

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—Subways jammed along on schedule today after the first citywide strike in history crippled New York City transit yesterday. But rumors and threats of a new strike outsped the trains along the 228 miles of subway tracks.

Michael J. Quill, whose solidly entrenched AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union was a target in yesterday's wildcat strike by rival motormen, predicted a repeat performance next week "with an even more crippling subway strike by the same mob."

Original Plans

A baby union, the Motormen's Benevolent Assn.—new, tiny, but with potential strength—went ahead with its original plans for a strike meeting next Tuesday night.

Its members, already on record by voice vote in favor of a strike next Wednesday, were being polled anew by mail.

Cool Air Rolls Over Northwest

By The Associated Press

IT WAS HOTTER in northern New England than in parts of the Arizona desert Friday.

Portland, Maine, sweltered in 94-degree midafternoon heat, while some weather stations in the Southwest had readings barely reaching 90 at the same time.

Much of the eastern two-thirds of the nation simmered in sticky heat. But cool northerly winds kept afternoon temperatures in the 50s and 60s in the Pacific Northwest southward into the plateau states and the Rockies.

The cool air extended eastward from the northern Rockies into the northern plains and northern Great Lakes.

Hurricane Force

Winds of hurricane force battered parts of the Texas Gulf coast. Two private planes and a hanger were destroyed at Baytown, near Galveston. Winds reached 79 m.p.h. at the Galveston airport. Heavy rains flooded some streets and three underpasses at Houston. Some utility lines were knocked down in the storm area.

A cloudburst and strong winds hit the Chicago area, causing flooding of basements, damage to power lines and a quick cool-off.

Suburban Evanston had nearly two inches of rain in a little more than half an hour and a half. The water rose above curbs, disrupting auto traffic in the business district temporarily.

A lightning bolt shattered the tower at Washington Park race track south of Chicago where the judges and the photo finish cameraman sit.

The concussion knocked a cameraman and two judges to the ground and bruised them. The race program continued uninterrupted.

Lansing, another Chicago suburb, reported that a windstorm damaged property and blew down some power lines.

Chicago's temperature dropped from 86 to 78 during afternoon showers.

The cold air pressed slowly southward in New England and the Northern Great Lakes.

Foreign Aid Receives Boost

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee boosted the administration's foreign aid bill to $4,502,600,000 today in the face of prospects for a long and bitter row on the Senate floor.

It added 100 million dollars in restoring the remaining half of a 200-million-dollar presidential fund for "Asian economic development" Congress authorized last year, but which the House voted to repeal.

Morning

This was in the morning session. In an afternoon meeting the committee made cuts totaling $12,400,000 in sections dealing with technical phases of the program.

Phillipsburg Boy Drowns

PHILLIPSBURG, N. J., June 15

—Donald Thorpe, 16, of Phillipsburg, drowned tonight in the Delaware River, where he had been playing with several companions about a mile north of here.

The other youths told police Donald, who could not swim, had been walking along a rock ledge in the river, wearing diving goggles. He apparently slipped into deep water, they said.

Thursday: Meeting and covered dish supper of the Friendly Society and friends at the summer home of Mrs. John Gregory.

East Borough Bible School Opens Monday

SESSIONS OF the East Stroudsburg Vacation Bible School will open Monday at 9 a. m. in the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church. The school will operate for two weeks with Parent's Night Service to be held on Sunday, July 1st at 7 p. m. in the sanctuary of the Methodist Church. The school is sponsored by the East Stroudsburg Ministerium and its constituent congregations and pastors.

This community sponsored school has captivated the attention of the children for many consecutive years and is the largest school of its kind in Monroe County. Two bus routes will again be run to gather the children living in the outlying rural areas: Minisink Creek, Franklin Hill, Marshalls Creek, Craigs Meadows and the North Fifth Street extension from the Stokes Mill Road.

Daily sessions will be held from 9 to 11:30 a. m. All children three years of age and over are cordially invited to attend. Bible study, singing, handicraft and recreation will be featured. A qualified staff of 40 consecrated teachers will staff the school. Radio broadcasts will be featured on the two Fridays of the school from 9:30 to 9:45 over WYPO.

Routes of the buses are as follows: (Route 1): Leaving S. Courtland and Washington Streets to Brown Street, Braeside Avenue and out East Brown to Pocahontas Junction and thence to Carmen Rink over bridge and north at Smithfield School road to Route 402; continuing on Seven Bridge Road to Marshalls Creek store and then west on Route 200 and North Courtland Street to the Methodist Church.

(Route 2): The second route will begin at Grace Lutheran Church and out Lackawanna Ave. to N. Courtland St. at McFord Crossing and then along 209 to Eagle Valley corner; north on Route 90 to Gravel Place road and thence west over Stokes Mill to N. 5th Street extension; returning along N. 5th Street cut-off at the Stroudsburg borough line; in Second Street to Main then along Washington Street and continuing to the Methodist Church. The buses will leave at approximately 8:15 a. m. daily and parents are asked to have their children at conspicuous places along the respective routes.

Graduation To Be Held

POCONO PINES — Commencement exercises for the Tobyhanna Township Daily Vacation Bible School will be held tomorrow in the auditorium of the Tobyhanna Township School at 7:30 p. m. All parents and friends of the school are invited to attend.

A resume of the work of each of the departments will be given, as well as workbook and handwork displays.

The school was held daily from June 4 to 15 with a total of 112 pupils enrolled and an average attendance of 92.

Pocoho Lake Methodist, Salem Evangelical and Reformed, and Blakeslee Methodist Church co-operated in sponsoring the school. Miss Mildred Deacon and Miss Helen Harvey of the Bible Club Movement also assisted the pastors and teachers from these churches.

The church school and Bible classes will be conducted at 9:45 a. m. tomorrow.

On Monday at 9 a. m. registration for the Community Daily Vacation Bible School will be held at the Presbyterian Church. Classes will be held at both the Presbyterian and the Methodist Churches.

On Tuesday the Pastor and Elder Harry J. Smith will serve as Commissioners to the meeting of the Presbytery of Lehigh which will be held at the Presbyterian Church of Freehold.

On Wednesday at 8 p. m. the session will hold their regular monthly meeting. On the same evening the men will also continue their remodeling work for the new church offices.

New Type Bible School

SALVATION Army Bible School will be conducted each day, June 18-29, at 6:30 to 8:30 p. m. This will be the first time that an evening school has been tried instead of the day school.

Mrs. Captain Charles Baker will be the director of the school. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hinesline and Mrs. Robert Smith, assisted by Miss Eleanor Counterman, Miss Edna Pugh and Miss Gladys Rehm, will conduct the pre-school department.

Primary Department will be conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reinheimer and assisted by Miss Bertha Kile, Miss Patricia Van Why and Miss Lucy Counterman. The Junior Department will be conducted by Mrs. George Gofus, Captain and Mrs. Baker, Miss Shirley Counterman and Miss Bernadine Alaph.

The Intermediate Department will be conducted by Miss Betty Sargent and William Thek, assisted by Miss Mary Ann Albert, Miss Joan Dunlap, Michael Reinheimer and Mrs. George Heiney. Miss Ramona Thek will act as the school's record sargent. Miss Thek will also instruct in some new game songs learned last week under the direction of "Doc" Brindley at the Leader's Institute, held in Ardsley, N. Y.

Registration To Be Held

ON MONDAY at 9 a. m. registration for the Stroudsburg Community Daily Vacation Bible School will be held at the First Presbyterian Church. The churches sponsoring this school include St. John's Evangelical Lutheran, Zion Reformed, Stroudsburg Methodist and the First Presbyterian.

The Kindergarten Department, under the direction of Mrs. Richard Lindroth, and the Junior High Department, under the direction of the ministers of the cooperating churches, will meet in the Stroudsburg Methodist Church. The Primary Department, under the direction of Mrs. Roger Acker and Mrs. Elwood German, and the Junior Department, under the direction of Miss Catherine Wolverton, will meet at the First Presbyterian Church of Stroudsburg.

Meeting Place

Those who have already registered may go directly to their particular meeting place. All others will register at the Presbyterian Church and then be assigned to their classes.

Sunday School Lesson

Scripture—Acts 21:17-28:22

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

AS WE read of the unjust charges brought against Paul, and his trials both before the Sanhedrin, the highest Jewish court, and Roman rulers, we are reminded that now and then we read in our papers how some person who has been sent to prison for a crime he did not commit, but of which he was falsely accused, was released after serving some years behind bars.

When Paul came to Jerusalem with his companions, he was given a warm welcome by the brethren there. Before the elders he told of his work among the Gentiles. Then the elders suggested that they had four men who had taken a vow of some kind and must be purified. As Paul had been accused of teaching that Jews were to forsake the law of Moses, which was false, he should take these men and purify himself with them for seven days.

Paul did so, but when the seven days were almost up, certain Jews from Asia, seeing him in the temple, laid their hands on him, rushed him out of the temple, and stirred up all the people, accusing him of defiling the temple and teaching against the people and the law. The whole city was moved and thrown into an uproar. As they were going to kill him, the chief Roman captain came and the beating stopped. Since he could not discover for what Paul was being beaten, he had him taken to the castle, bound with two chains.

As he was being led into the castle, Paul asked the captain to allow him to speak to him. The man said, "Canst thou speak Greek?" and asking Art thou not that Egyptian that caused an uproar and led 4,000 murders?

Standing on the castle stairs, Paul made a speech to the people to which they listened in silence. They demanded, "Away with him!" The captain commanded that he be brought into the castle and was going to have him scourged to make him confess his crime. As he was bound and about to be whipped, he asked the centurion who was standing by, if was lawful to scourge a Roman citizen without a trial. That frightened the Romans and they loosed his bonds and turned him over to the church authorities.

Paul's second trial, before the Sanhedrin, which ended in a question of Paul's concerning the resurrection, set the Pharisees and the Sadducees into a fight among themselves, forgetting Paul. Some scribes had the courage to say that they could find no evil in Paul, and possibly a spirit or angel had spoken to him.

However, certain Jews planned to kill him. The plot was overheard by Paul's sister's son who told the Romans and the captain ordered a guard of 200 soldiers and 70 horsemen to escort him to Caesarea. Even there his Jewish enemies brought charges against him. Ananias, the chief priest, named Tertullus Felix, procurator of Judea, was the judge.

Paul, asked to speak in his own behalf, denied all the charges (of which, of course, he was innocent). Felix did not condemn Paul, but kept him in custody, allowing him some liberties. After some days Felix even came with his wife, Drusilla, a Jewess, and asked Paul to tell him more of the religion of Jesus. When Paul spoke of righteousness, temperance and judgment to come, Felix who was an immoral man, trembled with fear.

When Festus came to Jerusalem (of whom we know nothing except that he was Felix's successor) the Jewish high priest asked him to send Paul back to Jerusalem, so that the men who were lying in wait to kill him, might do so. Festus, however, absolutely refused, saying he was going to Caesarea and they could accuse him there.

Pilgrim Holiness Bible School To Hold Registration Today

TODAY IS REGISTRATION day for Daily Vacation Bible School beginning Monday at 9 p. m. in the Pilgrim Holiness Church, Stroudsburg. Classes for ages four through 17 will be conducted. If you have not yet registered come to church between 10 a. m. and 12 m. today or call Miss Carolyn Warner, phone 2406 before 10 a. m. Let's make this the greatest school ever. Register today.

Grace Lutheran Church To Continue Early Hour Service

TWICE SUNDAY AFTER Trinity will be observed at the chief services tomorrow at 8:30 a. m. in Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg.

This service will be the second in the new schedule of Summer services to be held at the early hour of worship. An excellent attendance was noted for the first of these early services last Sunday.

Rev. Clifford E. Hays will serve as guest minister tomorrow morning and has chosen as his theme, "The Right Attitude!" Altar flowers will be placed by Floyd and Edward Getz in memory of their brother, Pfc. Charles Samuel Getz, killed in action in Korea on June 19, 1951. Chancel peonies will be placed by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert G. Bonser.

Bulletins will be presented by Miss Joyce E. Flyte in honor of the birthdays of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett W. Flyte. Robert E. Heller, Martin Lukowicz Jr., Andrew L. Mery and Clyde Heckman will serve as ushers. Brian Morris, Robert Beehler and John Baird will serve as acolytes.

The chancel choir, under the direction of Carroll R. All, will render an appropriate anthem. Mrs. Walter Chester, Mrs. William P. Miller, Mrs. Anthony Vogler and Mrs. James P. Sheeley will comprise the June welcoming team.

Pastor William F. Wunder will return to the pulpit on Sunday, June 24 for the 8:30 a. m. service. Church School will be conducted at 9:45 a. m. tomorrow.

Vesper worship will be held at 8 p. m. tomorrow in St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Smithfield, Craigs Meadows, with Pastor Hays serving as guest minister. Mrs. Beatrice Rash and Mrs. Reva Wildrick will be in charge of the music.

Rev. David Newquist will preach on the topic, "A Man In Christ," which will focus on the life of the Apostle Paul and the necessity of not believing in Christ with our intellects and loving Him with our hearts but surrendering our wills to God.

Picnic

The Bible School will continue for one more week, concluding with the Church School picnic at Brainerd on Saturday afternoon.

Again Paul was accused of sedition, blasphemy, etc., and Paul again denied all charges, finally stating that he appealed to Caesar, and Festus said,

"Hast thou appealed unto Caesar? unto Caesar shalt thou go." Some days later King Agrippa and his wife, Bernice, came to visit Festus in Caesarea, and Festus told him of Paul's case. Agrippa said, "I would also hear the man myself."

So King Agrippa had Paul brought before him, and listened to his enemies charge him. Agrippa asked Paul if he was allowed to speak for himself. So Paul told the king all about his early life, his conversion, and all that had happened to him. Festus thought Paul was mad, but Agrippa said, to Paul, "Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian," and Paul answered, "I would to God that not only thou, but also all that hear me this day, were almost, and altogether as I am."

After they had left the council chamber, the king, his wife and Festus talked together, deciding that Paul had done nothing worthy of death, and that if he had not appealed to Caesar he might be freed.

YER OUT!

If this has never happened to you no words can describe the awful finality of an umpire's decision. It falls like a sentence of death on a boy's heroic dream. And with it ebbs out the joy of his mightiest hit, and of the fly he caught last inning.

But thus baseball helps to build men. A fellow learns how to lose. And that's the first step in learning how to win.

But the biggest lessons of life no sport can teach. On a higher tier than sportsmanship, teamwork and the desire to win are FAITH, BROTHERHOOD, AND DEDICATION OF LIFE. These are the ingredients of spiritual victory—the fabric of God-inspired manhood at its best.

We can rightly be proud of our sand-lots and Little Leagues. But the character of American manhood depends most of all on our churches.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Burgess Granted Permission To Send Traffic On Ann St.; Repairs Urgent

A compromise seldom pleases anyone entirely, although it may soothe any pent-up feelings a particular controversy has generated among people of differing views.

Whether the truce reached in the battle over diversion of heavy traffic on Ann St., Stroudsburg, is the best possible solution is something that time alone will tell.

But it will give residents of Ann St., between Seventh and Ninth Sts., a breathing spell except for nine hours daily each Thursday, Friday and Saturday from June 1 to October 15.

Previously, Burgess Hal H. Harris had ordered heavy trucks and buses diverted from Main St. to Ann St. at unlimited intervals in a move designed to relieve traffic congestion in the business district.

A final decree was signed by Judge Fred W. Davis after opposing counsel had agreed to the compromise. While the decree limits Burgess Harris in diverting traffic, its real significance lies in the fact that it recognizes his authority to act by himself and not necessarily in union with the "police committee" in diverting the traffic to Ann St.

The compromise eliminates one cause for complaint. Ann St. residents had charged that their sleep was being disturbed by no plausible reason by the rumbling of trucks and buses throughout the night. Their claim was based on the contention that Ann St. is a residential street and, furthermore, a borough thoroughfare rather than a state highway.

The court decree "enjoins and restrains" Burgess Harris from using police officers or "any other device" to divert traffic except during the stipulated days and hours.

What is to be done about Ann St. repairs? William Tarr, a trucking firm owner, said it was in a "deplorable" condition and further use of the street would cause "immediate and irreparable loss and damage" to his vehicles.

Now that legal sanction has been granted for use of Ann St., the next move is up to the borough to make satisfactory repairs and improvements to the roadbed. Potholes that dot the street can cause serious damage to expensive equipment. And the incessant vibration set up by loaded trucks rolling over the rough street can cause further damage to building foundations.

To say nothing of the jagged nerves for the people of Ann St. who have been crying for relief.

Walter's Committee Takes Proper Step In Citing Paul Robeson For Contempt

An American public which not too many years ago shouted its acclaim for Paul Robeson as a college athlete and later as a professional singer is just about fed up with his conduct.

His defiance of the House Committee on Un-American Activities (headed by this district's Congressman Francis E. Walter) is the largest in a series of actions that brand the performer as an ingrate.

Robeson had refused to tell the committee whether he was a Communist. Instead he repeatedly interrupted committeemen who sought to question him about his activities abroad and loudly shouted his praise of the Soviet Union and the treatment he, as a Negro, received in Russia.

The hearing turned into a wild, shouting demonstration that came so close to getting out of hand that Walter was forced to call a halt to proceedings.

Later the committee, by a unanimous vote, cited Robeson for contempt of Congress because, as Walter explained, the singer's conduct had obstructed the hearing.

Robeson told a questioner he came back to America "to fight for my people and I'm not going to be driven out by Fascist-minded people."

There are millions of Americans, perhaps even a majority of the House committee itself, who will agree with Robeson that the treatment received by many Negroes leaves much to be desired.

But how can Robeson hope to gain his objectives, whatever they may be, by setting himself up as a martyr and turning his back on the nation which showered him with fame and fortune, in marked disregard for color lines?

Is Paul Robeson trying to demonstrate he can accomplish more for the Negro by adopting a foreign technique than Ralph Bunche, Congressman Powell, Jackie Robinson, Willie Mays, Joe Louis or Sugar Ray Robinson can do by adhering to American principles?

Robeson's feelings, demonstrated time and again in recent years, are more anti-American than pro-Negro. Many Negroes and whites alike feel he is doing his race more harm than good.

When an American admits his Communist leanings during an era when being a Red had a different, less evil meaning, the public is inclined to excuse him for his mistake.

But now that Communism has been unmasked as a threat to the U. S. and the rest of the free world, any American who adopts the Communist theories is a definite threat to this country and should be treated as such.

Robeson's refusal to say whether he is a Communist leads the public to only one sensible conclusion. The obvious answer is to escort him to the first ship headed toward Russia and present him with a one-way ticket. There he can put his dream of a perfect life to the real test and see how it compares with the American way after the glamor has worn off.

ANOTHER ROUND IN A NO-LIMIT BOUT

My New York —by Mel Heimer New York City Needs Trees More Than Paris Or London

New York — "This is such a wealthy city," said Lynne Bretton, "that it's sad—absolutely sad, do you hear?—to look around and see that it hasn't any trees." I protested that there were any number of trees here, including three or four in Central Park, but she brushed aside my defense. "Actually," she went on, "New York needs trees more than, say, Paris, which is full of lovely ones, or even London, which has trees left, right and center, wherever you look."

"A stone cover of streets isn't enough for a city. You know, trees are so restful—and they wouldn't interfere with traffic, which seems to be everybody's great problem in New York, now would they? There has to be something in Manhattan to provide restfulness. So many people duck into St. Patrick's Cathedral for that—some to worship, naturally, but others just to relax and get away from the rush for a dollar."

Outside of worrying about peace and trees, Miss Lynne, who looks like a young Mary Pickford, is happy about New York. She's a Welsh girl who lived here before and has just returned to us from England to sing at a posh saloon named Mousnigore's, where she does an act vaguely reminiscent of Gracie Fields, Gertrude Lawrence, Bea Lillie and Mary Martin (whom I leave out there, anyway?). She does a hilarious take-off on French chanteuses and will remain in my memory forever as the girl who once was given a rooster by a whimsical beau.

"I kept it in a closet for a while and it would crow at 6 a.m. and awake me," she recalled, shaking her head, "and I'd just yell, 'Shut up, you stupid bird!' The oddest part about it, though, was when the door-man of my apartment building told me one morning that a poor old lady on the third floor was feeling poorly. 'She's been three times to a psychiatrist,' he said, shaking his head. 'The unfortunate woman says she's been hearing a rooster crow in the mornings. Here in New York—can you imagine?'"

"All Wall Street executives," writes Bob Clayton, Jr., "aren't pompous old goats. Consider Edward B. Burr, the executive director of an investment company which deals in the rapidly-growing mutual funds. Burr's 32 and was an infantry platoon sergeant in the Battle of the Bulge. This is still a young man's town, Dad! ... A man I mean to butthole soon is Laurence Torrel, headwaiter in the Waldorf's Norse Grill. He's a Monacan and has vivid memories of Prince Rainier as an infant. And listen—what'd you say became of Grace Kelly?"

Latest pigeon report: City hall has been birdproofed—its ledges have been wired to give low-voltage hotspots to prowling pouters—at a cost of $24,800. One disgruntled pigeon the other day flew across the street to a Broadway restaurant, somehow got into the display window and spent 20 minutes eating cashew nuts before being evicted. ... "At last I'm a prize," writes the omnipresent publicist Dick Falk. It seems the winner of a "Miss Brooklyn" contest being sponsored by the Brooklyn Daily will get a publicity buildup job from the genial M. Falk.

Forlorn Note from Leonard Warren, the Metropolitan Opera baritone, who's an honest man: "Truth's a fine thing, if you want to wind up friendship." Leonard says he's a "truth addict" and it's getting him into trouble. "Whenever anyone asks me if I want him to be perfectly frank, I wince," says Warren, one of those unfortunate souls who can't lie. I must give him a quick lesson or two. ... The Porgy and Bess company blew into town via plane the other day after their third European tour. If it sets up shop in New York again, I'll attend for the fourth time.

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

"Hey, Mom," wailed little Jeffrey. "I just knocked over that big ladder outside the door." "Don't tell me," said his mother. "Tell your father. He'll pick it up for you."

"He can't," answered jittery 11 Jeff. "Pop's hanging from the third storey window!"

A motorist stopped his car to watch an old farmer hammering away at a small structure near the road. "What's it going to be?" asked the motorist. "All depends," admitted the farmer. "If I can rent it, it's a rustic cottage. If I can't, it's a cowshed."

There is one prominent couple in Hollywood whose dinner parties Sherree North eschews. "They're so stiff and formal," pouts Sherree. "The hostess is always formal, and the host is always stiff."

Inside Washington Cabinet Changes Probable If Ike Wins Second Term

Washington — If President Eisenhower should win reelection this autumn, as most Washingtonians think, you can look for several changes in his Cabinet for his second term.

Only three of Ike's original Cabinet appointees left during his first term in office — Welfare Secretary Oveta Culp Hobby, Interior Secretary Douglas McKay and Labor Secretary Martin Durkin.

However, several others are known to be anxious to get back into private life and it's a good bet that they will offer their resignations if Ike gets a second term in the White House. Among these are Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks, Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson and the new Welfare secretary, Marion Folsom.

Folsom wants to return to his position with the Eastman Kodak company. Weeks is said to have tired of public life and its problems, and Wilson also is reported anxious to get back to General Motors.

There also have been reports that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles would like to retire, but the President is said to want his full term; a policy chief to return. Also definitely certain of reappointment in a second-term Cabinet are Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey and Attorney General Herbert Brownell. Other Cabinet members also are expected to remain.

Hard Feelings — Political observers are convinced there is no prospect for a Stevenson-Kefauver ticket for the Democrats this year in the wake of the bristling Florida and California primary campaigns.

Although both aspirants for the Democratic presidential nomination maintained a surface friendship, both were stung by some of the other's statements in the heat of battle.

Stevenson was particularly rattled by Kefauver's assertion that he was conducting a "smile and smear" campaign, likening the 1952 nominee's attitude to that adopted by President Eisenhower toward Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Kefauver was angered by the statement of Stevenson supporter Millard Caldwell, former Florida governor, that the senator was a "sycophant" in his efforts to woo the Negro vote.

Sister's Role — Adlai Stevenson's sister, Mrs. Elizabeth S. (Buffy) Ives, is expected to play an increasing role in her brother's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Should Stevenson be elected President, Mrs. Ives undoubtedly would become his official White House hostess, since the former Illinois governor is unmarried. She would like nothing better.

Mrs. Ives also is considered a powerful political asset for her brother. Party officials noted that she received the warmest ovation at a recent Democratic women's luncheon when she was introduced along with the wives of some other possible candidates — including Mrs. Estes Kefauver, Mrs. Lyndon Johnson and Mrs. Stuart Symington.

In addition, she supplies Adlai with some of the "family atmosphere" which Stevenson would otherwise lack, since he is a divorced man. That, as any political expert will tell you, is mighty important.

Back Track — Look for the Federal Reserve to backtrack on its tight money policy some time in the next few weeks. However, it will not be due to criticism of its action in April hiking interest rates charged banks for loans.

The Federal Reserve adjusts its policies to meet changing conditions, and now it faces a changed condition — business activity is slackening. Easing the supply of money by lowering the interest rate would be calculated to increase business investments, and thus speed up commercial activity of all kinds.

Whipcracking — President Eisenhower and his White House aides are expected to crack the whip harder in the last weeks of the current session of Congress in an effort to win enactment of some of his legislative program. The whipcracking will be of a polite nature but the President is convinced that numerous bills he feels are necessary are being stalled by the House and Senate.

There was evidence of the President's new approach when he summoned top Democratic and Republican House leaders to a conference to appeal directly for their help in restoring heavy cuts made in his foreign aid program. He will employ the same device when the Senate takes up the legislation.

Democrats have grumbled throughout the session that the President has not carried his share of the load in fighting for legislation, but in the remaining days of the session it is certain that more pressure and more leadership will be exerted by the White House.

Four New Priests To Work Locally

By Jim Riley

Beginning next Friday, four new Catholic priests will be saying Mass and carrying out their duties within the confines of Monroe County.

The most recent appointments are for the current Summer season.

Father John J. O'Neill has been assigned from St. Francis, Nanticoke, to St. Ann's, Tobyhanna. Also assigned to St. Ann's for the next three months is Rev. Joseph J. Akulonis, who is newly ordained.

Rev. Edward R. Scott, also newly ordained, has been assigned to the Pocono Missions, which has its Rectory at St. Mary of the Mount Church, Mount Pocono.

Father Hilary L. Malinowski, also newly ordained, will work in the St. Matthew and St. Luke Churches, located in East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg respectively.

Rev. Cyril J. Rable, newly ordained, has been assigned to Hawley, Wayne County. Father Thomas J. Hannigan, newly ordained, will be at Milford and Father Joseph J. Adonizio, also newly ordained, has been assigned to Bear Creek.

Roland Townsend, well known operator of Townsend Motors, N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, is carrying out a strong campaign for better parking in the two boroughs and more industry in Monroe County.

It would be nice if he could get more support on both counts.

Father Francis H. Durkin, pastor of St. Denis Parish, Glen Lyon, recently passed his 25-year mark as a priest. He is a brother of Father Harold G. Durkin, pastor of both St. Matthew and St. Luke Catholic Churches in E. Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg respectively.

Howard Brundage and Paul Sherry, members of the Gahagan Dredging Co., made a bit with many local people on Thursday during their initial visit to Monroe County.

Brundage and Sherry will direct the various studies in the Tocks Island section, which may lead to the much discussed dam in that vicinity.

Joe Fleming and Jim Murphy, both residents of Stroudsburg, are working hard to make the Knights of Columbus banquet a success a week from today.

Harry Freedman is putting the finishing touches on another of his outstanding feasts and programs at the Kittatinny Country Club this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kupiec, teachers at Stroudsburg High and Middle Smithfield School, respectively, are currently preparing for their trip to New England, where they will spend the Summer. John is a golf professional in the Boston area.

Damages Of $10,500 In Truck Wreck

MOUNT POCONO—An estimated $10,500 damage was caused early yesterday morning when a milk tanker crashed into the rear of a commercial trailer parked on Route 611, about 100 feet south of Kinney Ave.

Police Chief William Post said the driver of the tank truck, William G. Cummings, 37, of Mansfield, RD 2, was knocked unconscious and suffered a deep gash on the forehead. He was treated by Dr. E. O. Headrick of Mount Pocono, and then released.

Cummings was traveling north on Route 611 in the tanker, owned by Johnson's Truck Lines of Mansfield. Post said, when he came upon the parked trailer.

Flares

Although flares had been set out on the highway, the tanker crashed into the rear of the trailer. Post said Cummings apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

Police said the trailer was parked on the highway while its tractor was being repaired at Wagner's garage. The rig is owned by Vinci Express, Woodbine, N.J., and was being operated by William Sheldon, 39, of Seaville, N.J.

After glancing off the trailer, the Johnson rig jack-knifed across the highway and tied up traffic for a time, Post said.

Police estimated damage to the Johnson rig at $9,500, and said about $1,000 damage was caused to the trailer.

Bethlehem Man Jailed

A 42-YEAR-OLD Bethlehem man yesterday was sentenced to a one-to-five year term in Eastern Penitentiary after being convicted of two morals violations in Monroe County Court.

Fine

President Judge Fred W. Davis imposed the sentence on Robert Muir, who was recently found guilty of incest. Judge Davis also ordered Muir to pay a $100 fine and costs. The prison sentence is to be computed from March 6, 1956.

Sentence was suspended against Muir on a second charge of rape.

Greyhound Bus, Trio Of Trucks Collide Outside Borough Limits Of Mount Pocono

MOUNT POCONO—Two Greyhound bus passengers were slightly injured yesterday afternoon when the vehicle was involved in a collision with three tractor-trailers here. Total damage was estimated at $5,700.

State Police said all seven passengers aboard the bus were examined by Dr. E. O. Headrick, of Mount Pocono, and only two were found to have suffered minor injuries. Neither was identified.

Troopers said one of the truck drivers involved, John Zymblosky, 42, of Chinchilla, will be charged with reckless driving. An information against him will be filed with Justice of the Peace John Grady of Tobyhanna.

The accident occurred about 3:40 p. m. on Route 611, about 300 feet outside the borough limits, when the bus driver, Kenneth C. Hirst, 31, of Philadelphia, attempted to pass a southbound truck, operated by William J. Smith, 55, of Union, N. J., State Police said.

At the same time, troopers explained, Zymblosky's truck, traveling north, moved into the middle lane, causing all three vehicles to crash.

The bus then was knocked into another northbound truck, driven by Howard K. Blaine, 45, of Berwick, troopers said further.

State Police said about $4,000 damage was caused to the bus; $1,200 to Zymblosky's vehicle; $400 to Smith's rig, and about $110 to the Blaine truck.

Four Inmates Of County Jail Paroled By Judge Davis

FOUR INMATES of the Monroe County jail yesterday were granted paroles by President Judge Fred W. Davis.

Judge Davis ordered both William G. Miller, 31, of 20 Washington St., East Stroudsburg, and Elmer Wildrick, 35, of East Stroudsburg, RD 2, to pay $10 a week each on their fines, costs and restitution.

Both men were serving terms after being convicted of larceny charges involving the theft of a quantity of copper from the Patterson Kelley Co.

Also paroled was Eugene VanHorn, of 45 E. Broad St., East Stroudsburg, who had been serving the balance of a sentence imposed on a previous conviction and who had been ordered committed until $399 in fines and costs had been paid.

Judge Davis ordered that VanHorn pay off the fines and costs at $20 a week, with the first payment to be made by June 23.

Norman Walter VanHorn, 26, of Tobyhanna, who was committed in default of $499.40 in fines and costs, was also granted parole. He was ordered to pay the amount at the rate of $10 weekly.

Swartley Wins Second Scholarship
Swartley has previously been awarded a $500 yearly scholarship to Lehigh University. He will attend that school. His major will be in chemical engineering.

The $200 State scholarship is applicable in addition to the award made by Lehigh. This brings Swartley's total in yearly scholarship payments up to $1,100.

Mount Pocono Girls Graduate
MOUNT POCONO—Miss Lois Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wagner, of Sterling Road, graduated with Miss Janet Possinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Possinger, of Church Ave., from the Lackawanna Business College at Scranton. Graduation took place Wednesday at the Masonic Temple.

Both girls are honor students.

Association Airs Problem Of Roads

PROMISED LAND—The "deplorable" condition of Route 390 from Roanoke to Promised Land and three miles of the legislative route running west from Roanoke toward Newfoundland was the main issue discussed at a recent meeting of the Promised Land Civic Association at Old Ranger's Inn.

A club spokesman said that the group went on record to bring to the attention of the highway department that nothing has been done on the roads in the area since temporary work was completed following the August flood.

Concern
With the summer season beginning, the club was concerned with the safety aspect as well as the fact that business might be lost due to poor traveling conditions. Heavily traveled during the summer months, the road is definitely a traffic hazard, the club contends.

It was also reported that the firehouse is rapidly nearing completion and that it is hoped that heat can be installed before next winter so that the community's fire-fighting equipment can be stored there.

Next meeting of the group is scheduled for September 13 at the Promised Land Inn. This will be the annual dinner meeting. Rep. and Mrs. August Metz have been invited as guests of honor. Mrs. Anna Mazza, president of the association, announced.

The club will serve a "smorgasbord" at Old Ranger's on June 22. A program of motion pictures will follow the meal.

Mrs. Hanlon, 52, Dies In Scranton

SCRANTON—Mrs. Anastasia M. Hanlon, 52, died at the Moses Taylor Hospital here yesterday morning after a brief illness.

A life-long resident of Lodgepole, Pike County, Mrs. Hanlon was the daughter of Theresa O'Connor Madden and the late Michael Madden. She was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Lodgepole and of its Altar and Rosary Society.

Survivors
Survivors, in addition to her mother, are her husband, John; a son, Cpl. John Hanlon, stationed in Germany; two brothers, Joseph Madden, Union, N. J.; and Leroy Madden, Lake Ariel, RD 1.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. at St. Mary's Church. Mass will be celebrated by Rev. James P. McAndrew.

Burial will be in the parish cemetery.

Friends may call Sunday and Monday after 7 p.m., at the Frey funeral home, South Sterling.

Other areas in the county—James L. Berger, Kunkletown RD 2; Clara Bush, Pocono Lake; Paul M. Crown, Jr., Shawnee; Emil Granitzki, Jr., Canadensis; Thomas D. Jones, Tannersville; Mary Louise Lynch, Tobyhanna; Mrs. Jeanne May, Mount Pocono; Joyce Mazurik, Canadensis; Marilyn Miller, Pocono Summit; Frances Mooney, Scotrun; Marilyn Rider, Canadensis; William H. Staples, Blakeslee.

BIGGER and better than ever before is the way. Marty Baldwin describes his 13th annual Eastern Pennsylvania Scholastic Coaches Clinic which opens at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College Monday.

And by the looks of Marty's guest list we believe the Pocono ambassador of good-will is not being lenient with his words.

Baldwin has lined up the top mentors in the college and scholastic ranks to head his list of instructors at the four-day clinic.

The test of a man is results and M. Stiles Baldwin has the answer again in the affair slated for Normal Hill.

In football he has Jim Tatum, no stranger to any follower of college grid work; Frank Reagan, a grid star second to none during his Penn and Philadelphia Eagles and New York Giants days; Lloyd Jordan, who we believe gets the most out of the least at Harvard; and Luke Richards, who can rely on his great coaching record alone at Wilkes-Barre G.A.R. High School.

Basketball will be honored by the presence of Dudley Moore, Duquesne's master-builder of court teams; and J. Birney Crum, Muhlenberg's boast to better five.

Perhaps better qualified manned the instructors rostrum at the clinic, but we can't remember.

This year the program has versatility—plus plenty of know-how from men who have reached or touched success many times over.

Indeed, M. Stiles Baldwin has come up with a billing that can't be touched the nation over—the mark of results.

QUICK PICKUPS—Commissioner Forrest Fabel of the Monroe County Softball League has extended an invitation to church teams to participate in the Monroe County Softball Tournament slated for June 25-29 at the Stroudsburg.

The tournament is being held for the purpose of getting a representative to spell the area in the Keystone Amateur Softball Association Class "A" Tournament which will be held here in August.

Fabel hopes to have full particulars and final plans made at the Monroe County Softball League's session next Thursday at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Home, Stroudsburg.

The commissioner and league president Joe Whalen have been working hard the past month, attempting to get things in running order. Thursday's meet at the VFW will tell hold a lot of answers to their efforts. A good turnout of fans, officials, team managers is urged to put words in action.

We would like to inform letter writers to this department that a signature at the bottom of a mailed message will get faster action than those unsigned. Constructively speaking, unlinked missives have little value, and if the person who pens the note is not known how can wheels be set in motion for any action, if any.

Billy Sommers, the Stroudsburg pitcher ace, has no less than four major league outfits interested in his hurling prowess. One of the more concerned is Chick Shorten, the Cleveland Indian ivory hunter. Shorten, from Seranton and a former St. Louis Brown outfielder when the Mount City team wasn't featuring freaks, has watched Sommers on several occasions this season and liked, very much, what he saw.

Phils Split Twinbill With Chicago Cubs

PHILADELPHIA, June 15 (P)—The Philadelphia Phillies came from behind twice in a home run filled opener of a two-night doubleheader to edge the Chicago Cubs 6-5 on Ted Kazanski's 10th inning bunt single but the Cubs came back with a six-run sixth in the second game to gain a split, 8-5.

Stewart, Jesen Advance In Golf

LAFAYETTE, Ind., June 15 (P)—Canadian champion Marlene Stewart, graduated from Rollins College last week, and Ruth Jesen, Seattle University freshman, soundly defeated semifinal opponents in the Women's National Collegiate Golf Tournament today and headed toward a repeat of their sizzling contest in the North and South Women's Amateur.

PML To Hit Halfway Mark Tomorrow

THE POCONO Mountain League hits the halfway mark in its 18-game season tomorrow when all ten teams collide in five contests.

The slate finds the league leading, undefeated Strouds facing Readers at Readers; West End A.C. visiting Ananook at Gordon Giffels Field, Stroudsburg; Saylorsburg traveling to Kunkletown; Tannersville being entertained by Bushkill; and Lake Harmony hosting Barrett.

Team Records
The Strouds lead the circuit with a 7-0 mark, followed by Lake Harmony with a 6-1 log. Trailing are Bushkill and Readers with 5-3 each; Saylorsburg, 4-3; Tannersville, 3-4; Barrett and Kunkletown, 3-5 apiece; Ananook, 1-6; and West End, 0-7.

Probable Pitchers
Strouds (Sommers) at Readers (J. Bonser).

Saylorsburg (R. Bonser) at Kunkletown (Meekes).

West End (B. Burkett or Altomose) at Ananook (Correll).

Barrett (L. Price) at Lake Harmony (Labowski).

Tannersville (Seip) at Bushkill (Dick or Curt Hickman).

Bantum 3rd To Toss Shot Past 60 Feet

BERKELEY, Calif., June 15 (P)—Manhattan's big Ken Bantum today became the third man in history to put the 16-pound shot past 60 feet as most records in two events fell in the opening stages of the 30th annual NCAA Track and Field Championships.

Bantum got off one toss of 59 feet, 5 1/2 inches and then followed it with a throw of 60 feet, 1/2 inch. Only world record-holder Parry O'Brien and Kansas' Bill Nieder have thrown farther.

Bantum surpassed O'Brien's NCAA mark of 58-7 1/2, but Parry, now in the Air Force, has thrown 61-1, a mark awaiting world record recognition.

Muscular John Morefield of Massachusetts Institute of Technology threw the hammer 193 feet, 2 1/4 inches.

Broke Mark
Morefield's throw broke the mark of 178-4 1/2 by Gil Borjeson of Brown in 1952.

Four of the six throwers today bettered Borjeson's record but none approached the pending world mark of 214 feet, 1/2 inch by Russia's Mikhail Krivososnor the American record of 211-3 by Cliff Blair of Boston University.

Blair was fourth today with 183-11 behind Albert Hall of Cornell, 192-11, and Bill McWilliams of Bowdoin, 186-1 1/2.

Boone's HRs, 5 RBIs Rip Bosox 5 To 2

DETROIT, June 15 (P)—Third baseman Ray Boone smashed his ninth and 10th home runs to drive across all five Detroit runs tonight as the Tigers whipped the Boston Red Sox 5-2 before 48,285 fans at Briggs Stadium.

Shorten, from Seranton and a former St. Louis Brown outfielder when the Mount City team wasn't featuring freaks, has watched Sommers on several occasions this season and liked, very much, what he saw.

Bangor Yanks Top Browns As Jones Extends Streak

BRIAN JONES' HITLESS pitching streak was halted after 16 innings, but the Bangor Yanks hurler kept his runless skein going as he pitched his mates to a 14-2 victory over the Bangor Browns here last night.

Jones, who had pitched two straight no-hitters, saw his hitless streak ended in the second frame when Duane Jarsons pecked him for a scratch infield hit. However, the Yank twirler kept his runless mark going until he went out in the fifth inning in favor of Phil Lopiano. Jones got credit for the win.

Sew It Up
Six runs in the fifth practically sailed the game away for the Yanks who now own a 5-1 won and loss record. The Browns now possess a 3-4 log.

Both of the Browns runs came off the services of Lopiano who mopped up after Jones gave way with the commanding lead.

Kucks 3-Hits Tribe In 6-2 Yankee Win

CLEVELAND, June 15 (P)—The Pittsburgh Pirates unleashed a 13-hit attack in support of Ronnie Kline tonight to thrash the St. Louis Cardinals 12-1 and hold onto first place in the tight National League race. Hank Folles' homer with two aboard in the eighth provided the Pirates' final three runs.

Right-hander Kline held the Redbirds to seven hits, striking out six and walking one for his sixth victory against four losses.

26,376 At Game
He held the heavy-hitting Cardinals hitless until the fourth when field from the bench and against newly acquired in a trade with the Giants, hit back-to-back singles. A crowd of 26,376 saw the game.

The victory was the ninth straight for the Pirates under the lights, and was their biggest run total yet this year.

Roberto Clemente, Pirate outfielder, singled in the first inning to run his consecutive game hitting streak to 13.

Winning Ways
UNIVERSITY PARK—Penn State's national championship soccer team is unbeaten for two straight years, and owns an 18-game win streak.

Mantle Hits 23rd
The Yanks pounded Mike Garcia for nine hits, including Mickey Mantle's 23rd home run.

Hank Thompson Condition Good
NEW YORK, June 15 (P)—X-rays of Henry Thompson's head showed no concussion or fracture but doctors today ordered the New York Giant third baseman held in the hospital until late Sunday as a precautionary move.

Hogan Trails Aussie With Under Par 140

ROCHESTER, N.Y., June 15 (P)—Peter Thomson, a nonchalant precisionist from Australia, shot into the halfway lead of the National Open Golf Tournament with a score of 139 today, but breathing hot on his heels one stroke back was the inevitable "Little Man," Ben Hogan.

Thomson, winner of the British Open title the last two years, came home with the dusk and a second-round 69 some three hours after Hogan, playing like the mechanical master of old, had assumed first place with a 72-68-140.

This blue ribbon championship hasn't had a foreign winner since big, cigar-smoking Ted Ray of Britain turned the trick in 1920. But Thomson is a definite threat in tomorrow's 36-hole showdown.

Blow Chances
The former champions, Lany Dr. Cary Middlecoff and Ed Furgol, blew their chances for the lead on the two treacherous finishing holes—Oak Hill's "Heartbreak Bend." They finished two strokes off the pace at 141 with Jerry Barber, 145-pound popball hitter from Los Angeles, and 24-year-old Wesley Ellis, a Texan who gave up medical studies to pursue the golf trail.

Middlecoff took a heart-breaking triple bogey-on the par-17th hole to finish with a 70 for the second round. Furgol, one under par going to the 17th, took a bogey on that hole and then missed a 7-foot putt on the 18th after making a dazzling 180-yard shot to the green from a fairway trap.

The affable Thomson missed a similar putt on the 10th hole, with a crowd of some 10,000 lining the fairway and green, for a birdie which would have given him a two-stroke advantage.

Fleck Out
The almost forgotten defending champion, Jack Fleck of Davenport, Iowa, winner over Hogan in last year's dramatic playoff at San Francisco, wound up with 76-74-150, which failed to qualify him for tomorrow's finals.

"I couldn't do it," Jack said dejectedly in the dressing room.

Tied at 142 were the 1953 champion, Julius Borjas, tough Ted Kroll, and Arnold Palmer of La-Trobe, Pa., a former amateur champion who is relatively new on the pro circuit.

13th Annual Scholastic Coaches Clinic To Open Monday

150 Sports Tutors Expected To Attend Four-Day Program

THE 13th ANNUAL Eastern Pennsylvania Scholastic Coaches Clinic will get under way at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College Monday.

More than 150 schoolboy and college athletic mentors will be on hand when the four-day Marty Baldwin-directed program starts lectures, demonstrations and movies at the Normal Hill school.

Clowns, Yanks Set For Pen Argyl Setto

PEN ARGYL—The nationally famous Indianapolis Clowns will cross bats with their great rival, the New York Black Yankees of New York City, in a 6:15 o'clock twilight ball game and fun show extravaganza at Weona Park here Wednesday.

This combination has been witnessed by thousands of baseball fans all over the nation, and there has never been a disgruntled customer leave the stands after the game was over.

Headlining the funmakers this season are Natureboy Williams, the Ozark mountaineer barefooted hitting first baseman, and the equally outstanding third-sacker, Prince Jo Henry, who outshines Goose Tatum, fabulous sports clown who got his start with the visiting attraction. They play top calibre of baseball every day of the season and have been the talk of the circuit since joining the Clowns ball club.

In addition, the Clowns' Clown Ed Hamman, will present his specialties and will be supported by the inimitable, ageless King Tut and his pint-sized stooge, Spec Bebo.

Sponsors The ball game is being sponsored by the Pen Argyl Green and White Association for the benefit of Midget Sports.

LL Discuss Rules, Pay Bills At Meet

STROUDSBURG Little League paid bills and discussed controversial rules at a meeting of officials, managers and umpires at the YMCA Thursday. President Jack Mullins was in charge of the session.

In other action, the circuit set tentatively July 14 as the date for the trip of Little League players to New York City to see a major league ball game. The Yankees and Cleveland Indians will be the attraction that day in Yankee Stadium.

All-Star Plans Plans also were made on selecting an all-star team for tournament play. Definite plans for the all-star aggregation will be made at the group's next session which is slated for July 5 at Little League Park, following a regular circuit game.

Managers and assistants from every team except one attended the meeting.

STC Teams Are On Wilkes Winter Cards

WILKES-BARRE—The Wilkes College winter sports schedule for 1956-57 list 20 tilts for the basketball team and 12 meets for the wrestling squad.

French 2-0 Leaders

PARIS, June 15 (AP)—France took a 2-0 lead over Italy today in the semifinal round of the European Zone Davis Cup tennis competition when Pierre Darmon and Paul Remy won singles matches.

Heading the list of lecturers are four top collegiate football coaches, two basketball tutors and one highly-regarded Pennsylvania scholastic grid mentor.

Topping the college grid instructor agenda are Jim Tatum, newly named North Carolina football boss; Lloyd Jordan, Harvard University; John Steigman, Rutgers University's new head coach; and Frank Reagan, Villanova University.

Collegiate court coaches slated to be on the tutoring firing line are J. Birney Crum, former Allentown High king who is now at Muhlenberg College.

The scholastic coach is Luke Richards, composer of the winning grid streak at G. A. R. High School, Wilkes-Barre.

Terps Marker Tatum recently resigned at Maryland University after bringing the Terps from obscurity to national collegiate football prominence. His Maryland teams have been rated the best or second best in the nation three years out of the last five.

Jordan's teams at Harvard have compiled enviable records considering the strict rulings of the Ivy League.

Steigman recently replaced Harvey Harmon at Rutgers after being an assistant to the veteran tutor of Scarlet teams.

Reagan, the former Penn All-America and Philadelphia Eagles grid star, is still in the rebuilding process at the Philadelphia Main Line school following a complete athletic shakeup at the Wildcat domain.

Molder Of Greats Moore, Molder of such greats as Dick Ricketts and Si Green, everybody's basketball All-American, has kept Duquesne among the court powers season after season.

Crum, the ex-Allentown High boss who compiled some of the best schoolboy coaching records while in the Queen City, likewise is enjoying success at Muhlenberg. His Mule fives play the best in the country and have fared better than well on more occasions than not.

Richards, considered one of the finest scholastic coaches, compiled a winning streak in football at the Wilkes-Barre school that ran past the 40-win mark.

Near And Far Coaches from as far as the Hawaiian Islands and Canada will attend the affair.

Every Ivy League school (Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Dartmouth, Pennsylvania, Brown, Cornell) will be represented except Columbia. It is the first time in the history of the local clinic that the Ivy moguls allowed their coaching staffs to attend the affair.

Highlights of the affair will be the banquet at the Penn Stroud Hotel on Wednesday night, the buffet luncheon at Allen Roth's Charcoal House Tuesday night and a cafeteria style get-together at college Monday.

The coaches also will play golf at the Glen Brook Country Club during their four-day stay here.

Given Okay To Deal With Welter Champ

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—The New York Athletic Commission today gave Norman Rothchild of Syracuse permission to deal directly with welterweight champion Johnny Saxton of Philadelphia, regarding a possible title fight in Syracuse with Carmen Basilio, former champion.

Saxton's manager, Blinkey Palermo of Philadelphia, never has applied for a license in New York State and it was for this reason that the commission granted Rothchild permission to deal with the athlete.

Britain, Sweden Win Gold Medals

STOCKHOLM, June 15 (AP)—Britain and Sweden, whose athletes are finally winning again after heart-breaking non-victorious years, won the first two gold medals of the Equestrian Olympics today.

The sovereigns of the two nations themselves—Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain and King Gustaf Adolf of Sweden—were in the royal box and fittingly saw their men in victory in the Three-Day trials.

Britain's trio of Lt. Col. Frank Weldon of the Royal Artillery, A. E. Hill, riding the Queen's horse Countryman III, and Maj. Laurence Rook, won the team title.

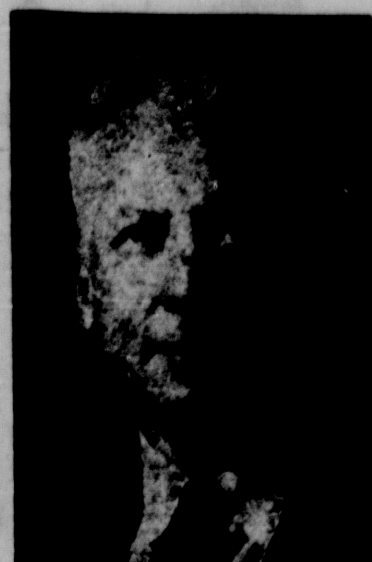

Petrus Kastenman, of Sweden, won the individual medal in the novel event which calls for a day of dressage, a day of endurance over a vicious 21-mile track and a day of jumping which would test a Grand Prix horse and rider. Not a single American even finished the event. Only eight years ago the Americans won the team title. They also won it in 1932.

Tryout Camp Set For Allentown June 28-30

ALLENTOWN—The St. Louis Cardinals will hold a 3-day tryout camp at Brendon Field here on June 28, 29, and 30, it was announced by Redbird Chief Scout Joe Mathes, Ollie Vanek, veteran Cardinal scout and former Allentown manager, will be in charge of the camp, and he will be assisted by General Manager Don Dix of the Allentown Club.

Tryouts are open to all players between 16 and 23 years of age. Workouts will start each morning at 10 a.m. Players attending the tryout sessions need bring only a glove, baseball shoes, and a uniform if he has one. All other equipment will be furnished by the Cardinals.

Tryout camps have long been a source of a great amount of the player talent contained in the Cardinals farm system, the largest in the world, and hence the one with the most opportunities. For example, many of the players on the parent Cardinal Club were discovered in tryout camps—third baseman Ken Boyer, shortstop Don Blasingame, second baseman Red Schoendienst, and others.

Cardinal Manager Freddie Hutchinson, pointing out the opportunities for young players in tryout camps, said, "Don't be discouraged if you are not as good as the major league players right now. Attend the tryout camp anyway. Keep in mind that stars like Schoendienst, Boyer, and Blasingame were once raw and green. As a matter of fact, Ken Boyer, who is one of the leading hitters in the National League, was signed through a tryout camp, got his start in the Class D North Atlantic League in nearby Lebanon, Pa. These players did not always pitch, hit, or field as they do now. They had to learn how, and when they did, the Cardinal organization was equipped to give them their big chance in the major leagues.

Legion players who are going to attend tryout sessions should obtain written permission from their Legion Post or Post Commander.

St. Louis Hawks Ink Julie McCoy

ST. LOUIS, June 15 (AP)—The St. Louis Hawks professional basketball team today signed Julius McCoy of Michigan State College.

McCoy, 6-2 college standout, scored 600 points in 22 games for the Spartans. He was runner-up to Ohio State's Robin Freeman in the Big Ten scoring last year, and ranked fourth among the country's major college scorers.

Father Of Two

UNIVERSITY PARK—Bob Lelsher, of Chambersburg, Pa., captain-elect of the Penn State basketball team, is the father of two children.

Needles Is 4-5 Favorite To Cop 88th Belmont Stakes

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—Gun Shot, from the Maine Chance Career Boy and the others today to make up a field of nine 3-year-old colts for the 88th running of the Belmont Stakes.

It had been hinted for several days, that Gun Shot might take a crack at the mile and one half classic, and if all go postward tomorrow at 3:45 p.m., EST, the final jewel in racing's famous Triple Crown will be worth $120,650.

Needles, the temperamental Florida colt who won the Kentucky Derby for Bonnie Heath and Jack Dudley, remained the 4-5 favorite as entries closed for the race which has determined the 3-year-old title in nine of the last 10 years.

Fabius 2nd Choice The Calumet Farm of Mrs. Gene Markey will try for its third Belmont victory with Fabius, who lost the Derby by three-quarters of a length then handed a length and three-quarters defeat to Needles in the Preakness. Fabius is second choice at 3-1 and might have rated the favorite's role had he not lost the Leonard Richards Stakes last Saturday at Delaware Park.

Two Entries C. V. (Sonny) Whitney, who also has seen his silks carried to victory twice in the race, will shoot with the dangerous pair of Career Boy and Jazz Age. The entry is 4-1 in the early line.

Others in the race, which dates back to 1867 and is oldest of the Triple Crown series, are Mrs. C.B. Fischbach's Frosty Mr., winner of the Chesapeake Stakes; Fortune P. Ryan's Charlevoix; Mrs. Laudy Lawrence's Beau Diable, and Ricci Tavi, who upset Fabius in the Leonard Richards, and runs in the colors of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Linger's Christiana Stable.

Naylor Named Lehigh Captain BETHLEHEM, Pa., June 15 (AP)—Robert F. Naylor, a junior shortstop from Lambertville, N. J., has been elected captain of the 1957 Lehigh University baseball team, the school athletic office announced today. He succeeds Charles W. Wagner Jr. of Harrisburg, a senior who played third base.

Newark Boy To Ride

OCEANPORT, N. J.—Nick Renicola, 21-year-old Newark, N. J. boy will ride for T. J. Haraway during the Monmouth Park meeting. He won his first race at Sunshine Park.

Basilio Tiff With Machado Is Called Off

DAYTON, Ohio, June 15 (AP)—A 10-round boxing bout involving ex-welterweight champion Carmen Basilio was called off today.

Basilio was to have fought Felix Machado Monday night, June 18, at the Dayton Motor Speedway. Matchmaker Jack Laken said he withdrew Machado from the bout after he learned the Cuban did not have an impressive record and was not a suitable opponent for Basilio.

Tobyhanna Away In PMA Contest

TOBYHANNA—League leading Tobyhanna will put its five game winning streak on the line tomorrow when it travels to Daleville for a Pocono Mountains Association contest. Game time is 2:30 p.m.

Tobyhanna, undefeated thus far in circuit play, holds a game edge over second-place Hamlin who won a 4-1 win and lost mask.

Bushkill To Drill

BUSHKILL—Bushkill of the Pocono Mountain League will hold a workout here today, starting at 4:30 p.m.

2nd Ward Grabs Bangor LL Lead

BANGOR—Second Ward took over first place in the Bangor Little League last night by edging First Ward 4-3 at the Pennico Field.

Alex Kristoff was the winning pitcher as Second rallied for three runs in the last frame to notch the victory. Barry Groner, in relief of Ralph Lopardo who was forced out of action by hurling the required LL pitching limit, was the mound loser. Lopardo had pitched one inning earlier in the week and five yesterday for the LL quota.

In another league duel, Fourth Ward topped the Elks 4-3 at Memorial Park.

Joan Kresge C. L. Dennis Are Married

Saylorsburg — Miss Joan Marie Kresge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kresge of Saylorsburg, became the bride of Clifford LeRoy Dennis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dennis, of Stroudsburg, RD 1, on Saturday, June 9, at 5 p.m., at Mount Eaton Church.

Rev. Adan Bohner officiated at the ceremony, performed by candlelight. Calvin Kresge, brother of the bride, was acolyte. Florence Shick was organist. The soloist, Mrs. Dorothy Budge, sang "O Promise Me," "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of hand-clipped Chantilly lace over satin, fashioned with a basque bodice, long pointed sleeves and Queen Anne collar trimmed with sequins and seed pearls. Her bouffant skirt had tiers of nylon tulle trimmed with lace, and ended in a chapel-length train. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was draped from a crown of horsehair trimmed with sequins and pearls. She carried a white Bible with a white orchid and streamers of lilies-of-the-valley.

Her sister, Miss Catherine Kresge, was her maid of honor. She wore a gown of shaded blue nylon net with matching picture hats and carried a colonial bouquet of red roses.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Wilmer Barlieb, of Maryland; Miss Betty Cramer, of Stroudsburg; and Miss Jean Eyer, East Stroudsburg, wore gowns of shaded pink nylon net with matching picture hats and carried colonial bouquets of pink roses and carnations.

The flower girls, Kathleen Blechy, cousin of the bride, and Sandra Talasz, cousin of the bridegroom, wore gowns of blue nylon net and they carried colonial bouquets of red roses.

John Dennis served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Nathan and Russell Kresge, brothers of the bride, and LeRoy Altomero, her cousin, all of Saylorsburg.

The bride's mother wore a blue silk dress with white accessories and a corsage of red roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a rose lac dress, white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

A reception was held at the Saylorsburg firehall which had been decorated with white bells and streamers.

For traveling the bride wore a beige suit with brown accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

They are both graduates of Stroudsburg High School. Before her marriage the bride was secretary at Monroe County Co-op. Mr. Dennis was also graduated from Pennsylvania State University, and served in the United States Army for two years. He is working for the state of New Jersey.

Scouts Head For Ranch In Colorado

The Senior Scouts were rolling along yesterday morning, leaving for a trip which will take them to the Never Summer Ranch in northwest Colorado. The party of 22 left yesterday morning a board the Wyckoff bus. They expect to arrive at the ranch on June 19 and to return on June 29.

The early-morning departure was made festive by the egg-shell leis which had been prepared for the leaders of the caravan, made from egg shells, brightly dyed, which came from the luncheon eggs prepared for the first meal enroute.

Explorer Boy Scouts making the trip include Douglas Smith, Michael Manuch, John Regina, Don Hoover, Buddy Elwine, Todd Wyckoff and Jerry Ifft. Senior Girl Scouts in eluded in the party are Jane Durn, Sue Wicks, Sandra Wakefield, Abbie Jane Frisbie, Judy Fisher, Dorothy May, Eloise Cohen, Faith Chemberlin, Jeanette Muson.

Adult Leaders include E. H. Wyckoff, John Richards, Jonas May and Rev. Clyde C. Levergood, Mrs. George Wakefield and Miss Nancy May.

Pollyanna Festival Plans Advanced

Saylorsburg — The annual Pollyanna Club Festival will be held on Saturday, June 23 in the Mount Eaton Church grove, Saylorsburg. At a recent meeting of the club it was announced that the Monroe County Band, under the direction of Walter Lane, will present a concert from 7 to 11.

Committees have been named to take care of arrangements and the cooperation of all members was urged. Refreshments will be sold and a cake and miscellaneous walk will be featured. Contributions of a cake or other articles will be welcomed.

The rain date is June 27. The club recently purchased two large pews for the newly-decorated sanctuary at Mount Eaton Church. Proceeds from the festival will be used in some future church project.

The June meeting of the group will be held on June 18 at the home of Emma Fenner in Wind Gap.

District Aux. VFW To Meet Here Sunday

The Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary to Thomas P. Lambert Post 2540 will play host to the meeting of District 20 to be held at the VFW home, Stroudsburg on Sunday. Local members are urged to attend.

At their meeting on Monday night, the local auxiliary announced the dates for other coming events. The state encampment will be held in Philadelphia, July 11 to 14, and Ethel Raughley was elected as a paid delegate. On September 8 and 9 there will be a pilgrimage to the national home in Eaton Rapids, Michigan, open to any member who wishes to go. Grace Shook, chairman of the candy and sodas served at Friday night parties announced that she always needs helpers. The auxiliary will sponsor a benefit on June 28. Charles Masters and his teen-agers will play for another dance on July 3 to which all members are invited.

Hazel Ellenberger and Peg Goldy received the attendance awards. The next meeting will be held June 25 and will feature initiation of a new member.

Kathy Bush Seven Years Old

Analomink — Kathy Bush, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Bush, was seven years old on Friday, June 8. That night she was honored at a family dinner at her home.

The decorated birthday cake had been baked by her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Chester Van Vliet. Other guests included her sisters, Marie and Donna, her grandfather, Chester Van Vliet; Harold Stettler, and her parents.

Fire Co. Picnic

Delaware Water Gap — The Delaware Water Gap Fire Company will hold an outdoor supper on Monday night at the community's Memorial Park for members, families and friends. Everyone is asked to bring a covered dish and table service.

Soroptimist International of Monroe County met at the home of Mrs. Alice Saunders, Stroudsburg, on Tuesday, June 14.

It was decided to hold the installation of new officers at the Woodside Inn, Canadensis, on Thursday, June 28 at 7 p.m. Dinner reservations should be made by Tuesday morning June 25 with Mrs. Alice Saunders, 353. Husbands and sweethearts are invited.

The speaker will be Phoebe Conrad, who will speak on "Wax Figurines in Dramatic Settings." The installation officer will be Miss Ann Faulhaber, President of the Eastern Pennsylvania Soroptimist International Association.

An invitation was read to the Club to attend the anniversary party at the Penn Harris Hotel of the Harrisburg Club on Wednesday, June 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Jumper

Sally Dunlap Is Bride Of C. R. Jumper

The Keeble Chapel of Paradise was the scene of a pretty wedding on May 26, at 2 p.m., when Miss Sally Marie Dunlap, of Paradise, and Charles R. Jumper, of Cresco, were united in matrimony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Dunlap Jr. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Rachel Jumper.

Rev. Clifford E. Hayes performed the single ring ceremony. Mrs. Edwin Besecker was the organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length dress of white printed daron with round neckline and short sleeves in Princess style. A white crown of pearls held her finger tip veil of imported illusion. She carried a white satin Bible with white carnations and streamers of baby tears.

Mrs. Marjorie Champlin, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. She wore a street-length dress of yellow printed daron with a headband of yellow tulle. She wore a wrist corsage of yellow and white carnations.

Joseph Dunlap, brother of the bride, was best man.

The mother of the bride was attired in a navy blue print dress of rayon jersey, with white accessories. She wore a corsage of pink and white carnations.

The mother of the groom wore a light blue suit with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink and white carnations.

A reception for the immediate family was held at the home of the bride's parents.

After the reception, the couple left on a honeymoon to New State. For her going-away outfit, the bride wore a navy blue suit with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

PTA Makes Fred Dent Life Member

Hamilton Township — The first end-of-the-term banquet for the Hamilton Township Parent Teacher Association was held at Varkony's Diamond Inn, Saylorsburg, on Friday night, June 8, with 20 persons in attendance.

Mrs. Howard Koehler, immediate past president of the Hamilton PTA, presented a life membership to Fredrick Dent, principal of the Hamilton Elementary School, Sciota, on behalf of the organization in appreciation for the untiring assistance he has rendered during his time at the local school. Mrs. Koehler also gave a personal gift to Mr. and Mrs. Dent.

Mrs. Donald Heller, vice president of the organization, presented Mrs. Koehler with a past president's pin, the gift of the officers and executive board.

A charter for 1956-57 was received from the Pennsylvania Congress of Parents and Teachers and was accepted by Mrs. Heller with Mrs. Koehler making the presentation.

Brief talks were given by Mr. and Mrs. Dent, Mrs. Koehler and Mrs. Heller. A social time followed.

Open House Today For The Hellers

Wind Gap — Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Heller, of Wind Gap, Pa., are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary today. They will hold open house from 8 to 9 p.m.

The Hellers were married on June 2, 1906, by Rev. William H. Brong, then pastor of the Plainfield Reformed Church, Plainfield Township. They postponed their celebration so that their daughter, now living in Texas, can be present.

Mr. Heller is a son of the late Samuel J. and Mary A. Heller, of Wind Gap, Pa., and for many years organist of the Plainfield Reformed and Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Heller is a daughter of the late William E. and Jane Dreisbach Hahn, of Plainfield Twp. They have four children: Margaret J. Bash, Linckhill Pike, Chalfont; Virginia B. May, Galveston, Texas; Clarence A. Heller, Wind Gap; and Jeanette L. Nelson, Hollis, N. I. They have 13 grandchildren.

Mr. Heller conducts the paint and wallpaper store and contracting business he established in 1920. They are both members of the Plainfield Reformed Church where Mr. Heller is an elder and treasurer of the congregation. He is a charter member and past president of the Pen Argyl Exchange Club; past master of Pen Argyl Lodge 594, F and AM; member of Easton Lodge No. 35, Tall Cedars of Lebanon; Lehigh Consistory; Rajah Shrine, Reading, and Forks of the Delaware Shrine Club, Easton.

Amy Stegner Celebrates Sixth Birthday

Mount Pocono — Amy Stegner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stegner, of Fairview Ave., celebrated her sixth birthday Saturday. Some of her family and little friends joined her and all had fun, partaking of the pretty birthday cake.

Those present were: Barbara and Jimmie Serfass, Helen Sables, Margaret Glover, Cynthia, Johnny and Amy Stegner, and Mr. and Mrs. Stegner. From Wyoming: Granddad Fred Hopper, aunt and uncle Gertrude and Erwin Muschter, Miss Beverly Moss and Erwin Muschter Jr.

Fidelity Circle Gives $50 To Building Fund

Portland — The Fidelity Circle of the Portland Presbyterian Church met on Tuesday night in the social room of the church. The business meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. Ethel Seelye. The Circle voted to donate $50 to the Building Fund of the church.

The Circle will discontinue meeting for the summer but planned an outing for July. Mrs. Raymond Transue, Mrs. Ethel Seelye, Mrs. Olin Cramer and Miss Alice Delp were appointed a committee to plan time and place.

A social time followed, with Miss Katherine Delp and Miss Alice Delp as hostesses.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Tomorrow is Father's Day, and I agree with Arthur Godfrey when he says in his pixieish way, "Ah, come on now. It can't do anybody a bit of harm to honor the poor guy one day a year."

Frankly, I think Father is not half so belittled by the world as some journalists would have us believe. I've read reams of printed pages recently (and so, no doubt, have you) about what a poor, abused, pitiable character Dad has become. These writers invariably point to such television programs as "Make Room for Daddy," "The Life of Riley," "Doris and Herriett," and a few smaller half-hour in which Dad is very often something less than an all-conquering hero. They overlook such grand family shows as "Father Knows Best" in which Dad is friend, philosopher, judge and jury, and even always Mother's sweetheart.

To be perfectly honest about it, if there aren't as many shows giving Dad a big buildup as there are shows tearing him down, the bitter truth may be that really good Dads are in the minority . . . that there are all-too-few Pops who are tops, and far too many fathers content to be wage-earners and little else.

So far as we at Wyckoff's are concerned, however, EVERY father is terrific. Just the fact that he's around is a good reason for being happy. For this reason we feel that Dads everywhere rate a card or a gift saying, in either sledge-hammer or subtle way, "DAD, IT'S NICE KNOWING YOU—YOU'RE QUITE A GUY."

What to give him? Well, for heaven's sake, you can't miss seeing a hundred items held in appreciation if you'd wander into the store! What about a new pen and pencil set? One of the 324 four-star stools just arrived in our gift department from Mexico? A book? A chair or comfortable chair for sunning on porch or lawn? A suit . . . tie . . . shirt . . . or, if he's as young in heart as ever, a giddy gawdy Cabana set! . . . some gardening, fishing, or outdoor cooking equipment! If these are his hobbies? . . . a gift certificate if you're stymied? . . . a box of candy if he boasts a sweet tooth? . . . a pair of shoes? . . . But why go on? You know your Dad better than I do. And if you're a good Wyckoff customer you should know our store just about as well. After all, you can see for yourself much better than I can enumerate possibilities.

Then, when you take your gift over to our Gift Wrapping center why not buy Dad an extra special gift that I'll bet you never even considered until now! Why not buy a ticket to tonight's program at the State Teachers College when a dozen lovely Monroe County girls will compete for the title "Miss Pocono Mountain"? Don't be too sure Dad wouldn't enjoy it. You only THINK he's that old!

Just Between Us

—by Bobby Westbrook

Until the summer schedule gets shaken down, it seems as if life had turned into confusion worse confounded, and you get so bewildered that you haven't even time to notice the weather, which you'll admit is a little hard to ignore these days.

College students, fitting into jobs with weird schedules or trying to cram the whole summer vacation into one week of leisure, don't help matters either. They're either popping up at unexpected times—like the carful of my favorite girls arriving at 7 a.m. after driving all night from Canada, and throwing stones at the window—or else they vanish completely just around mealtime and arrive starving after the dog has finished up all the leftovers.

Summer visitors sort of complicate things, too, by doubling your usual time for getting back and forth to work and finding a parking place.

One of the most pleasant complications I got involved in was the reception for the Pocono Motor Federation members at Pocono Manor. A ride up and back in a convertible with the top down and plenty of food and no story to write afterwards. That's the kind of complication I could cope with more often.

However, I did salvage one tidbit of information for you. The Gen. Lacey V. Murrow, who is highway consultant for the AAA, was also a speaker at the meetings, and also a brother of Edward R. Murrow, news analyst—oh yes, and Motor Club members are very entertaining, even when they aren't motoring.

Robin Makes Oil Rounds

OTTAWA, June 15 (AP) — Keith Mills, oil truck driver, got the impression he was being followed by a robin on his rounds. He was.

He found a nest under a front fender with two eggs. Mills and dispatcher Don Simpson then put the truck in storage—six weeks ago. Two more eggs appeared and four young robins have been hatched.

"We sure could use that truck," Simpson said wishfully as the robin family showed no signs of moving on.

Milo Kresge

Milo Kresge Retires From Record Shop

By Leonard Randolph
THAT PRINTER'S ink that gets in a man's blood must do something for his longevity, judging from the number of oldtime printers still extant.

There's N. O. Bender, known as "The Chief" around The Daily Record. Chief retired a couple of seasons ago. Then there's William P. Deering, long-time editor-writer, retired for quite a spell but still around and very much alive and kicking.

Now here's Milo Kresge, a print shop worker since he was 18. Milo retired last week from his job with The Record. He'll be 70 come August 27.

His career in printing dates back to March 4, 1904. That's the day he went to work in the shop of the old Monroe Democrat. B. F. Morey was the publisher. Milo had just passed his 18th birthday. Officially he started off as a printer's "devil." The term has nothing to do with disposition or malevolence. It's fallen into the archaic fold of old language now, but back in those days it was just another phrase for an apprentice.

Kresge went right on working as a "devil" until 1906. Then a spectacular fire took him out of the printing business. The Monroe Democrat plant was burned out. Milo helped out in his father's (J. D. Kresge) business. The elder Kresge owned Hickory Valley Farm in those days.

On March 8, 1908, he was back in the business again, working for The Monroe Record. That was the forerunner of the present newspaper. At that time it was a weekly, owned by Monroe Publishing Co., a corporation.

Kresge, Bender and others lived through the early days when the newspaper was evolved from a weekly into its present status as a daily. It was Kresge, as pressman, who operated the press the morning the first once-a-day paper was printed.

He took the paper from the press, handed it to Bender. Bender, in turn, presented the first copy of The Daily Monroe Record to the late Joe Kerr, then Burgess of Stroudsburg.

Promotions
In the years after that day Milo Kresge progressed through a series of promotions. He was named compositor in 1918. Three years later he became foreman of the composing room staff. He worked for most of his remaining time with the shop as a personnel head.

What's left of a printer's life once he's retired? Well, according to Kresge, a great deal. Most of it memories. And a lot of good ones at that. Most of them funny, the kind you can tell over and over again to people who are interested in printing and remember the days before the 70-mile-an-hour press and the era of electronic gadgets. Quite a few of them might not quite fit in print.

Like most men who have just retired, Kresge's plans are simple. He plans to do as little as possible for awhile. Sit around the house. Work around the house. Sit and talk with his wife, Martha, in their home at 116 N. Sixth St.

This summer there'll be a trip to Atlantic City. Another one, later on, to Erie. A few visits to old friends.

But more than anything else, there'll be those long, lazy Summer afternoons. There'll be time to light a cigar, pour a nice cold drink, shuffle off into the living room in front of the big-screen TV set and sit still watching major league baseball.

He hasn't missed ball game since he retired. And he doesn't intend to. He's a man who gets a lot out of a game, too. And who wouldn't if he had to work 52 years before he got a chance to watch more than one game a week — not counting night baseball.

Tamiment To Stage Modern American Opera In August

New York, June 15—A new opera written in that typical American musical idiom, jazz, will be given its premiere performance at Tamiment, Pa., on August 11 and 12, 1956. The opera is "Fat Tuesday" by Sol Berkowitz, composer and assistant professor of music at Queens College, New York.

Composer
"Fat Tuesday" is a serious opera that has its setting in New Orleans at carnival time — "Fat Tuesday" is an English version of Mardi Gras. The libretto was written by Herb Hartig, staff writer for the National Broadcasting Co.

Sol Berkowitz, who studied music at Columbia University, is a young American composer who is presently on leave from his teaching position and devoting himself to research and composition on a grant from the Ford Foundation. His compositions have been performed by pianists Ray Lev, Whittemore and Lowe, and others. He has commented that in writing "Fat Tuesday" he utilized "elements of jazz within a formal framework."

The producer of the opera at Tamiment will be Monroe B. Hack. Plans for other productions of the opera are under consideration.

Bangor High Presents Awards

The annual Elks $100 scholarship award for one year to the most deserving senior boy was extended for another year to Roderick Hoppel, a graduate of the Class of 1955.

All winners were announced and presented by Superintendent of Schools Donald B. Keat.

Honor
Keat also announced the newly-elected members to the Senior National Honor Society from the junior and sophomore classes. Selection was made by a faculty committee on the basis of scholarship, leadership, service, and character. Juniors selected were Maureen Avery, Mary Catherine Falcone, Annabelle Finelli, Rochelle Giacchino, and Sherry Gloss. Sophomore appointees were Albert Calie, Ronald DeNardo, Judy Evans, Frane Heard, Judy Kressler, and Rosanne Turzio. Advisor to the society is W. John Heard, faculty member.

A skit entitled "The Case of the Jolly Jailbird" was presented by members of the graduating class as part of the Class Day program. The class poem was read by Janet Berger and the class song, written by Robert Miller and Edward Traves, was sung by the whole class.

A presentation of their gift to the school was made by class president Jack Stenlake to Merle Mabius, representing the Bangor Area Joint School Committee. Stenlake also presented the mantle oration on behalf of the senior class. Accepting the mantle was the Junior Class President Dale Miller. A prelude of organ music was provided by Robert Miller, Janet Willis, and Betty Keller.

The program concluded with the singing of the alma mater. Following the program, the class members journeyed to Mt. Airy Lodge in the Pocono Mountains for their Class Day dinner. Guests of this affair were class advisor and Mrs. Armon Williams, Dr. and Mrs. Trevor Williams, Miss Kathryn Verona, Mrs. Jean Lobb, Mrs. Hazel Branch, Miss Charmaine Collins, Miss Marie Engler, and Miss Florence Giacchino.

Hazleton Resident Buys Two Lots

A HAZLETON resident has purchased two tracts in Tobyhanna Township for $27,000, according to a deed filed yesterday in the office of Register and Recorder Floyd Butz.

The property was transferred to John Frank Yamulla by Mr. and Mrs. Driscoll H. Fellows, Fayetteville, N. Y., Jane T. Price, Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Price and Raymond Price, Jr., all of Mountaintown.

The following other deeds also were filed:
S. E. Smale, Polk Township, has transferred a tract there to Harvey E. Smale, same place.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Warke, Allentown, have transferred a lot in Coolbaugh Township to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blamire, Wilkes-Barre. Mr. and Mrs. E. Harrison Taylor, Jr., Stroud Township, have transferred a lot in Stroud Township to Mr. and Mrs. James W. Toner, Stroudsburg.

Delaware Water Gap
Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Dent, Allentown, have transferred two lots in Delaware Water Gap to Mr. and Mrs. John G. Flynn, Delaware Water Gap.

Gertrude W. Dixon, Paradise, Lancaster County, has transferred a lot in Middle Smithfield Township to Mr. and Mrs. Elwood F. Doll, Middle Smithfield Township.

Elizabeth M. Walter, Bangor, has transferred a lot and a double house at 21-23 N. Sixth St., Stroudsburg, to Joseph G. DeRenzi and Albert E. DeRenzi, trading as Joseph G. DeRenzi and Son, Stroudsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Way, St. Petersburg, Fla., have transferred a lot in Stroud Township to Anna K. Hamm, Bangor.

Emma C. Dinkey, et. al., have transferred another lot in Stroud Township to Anna K. Hamm.

Kresgeville

Mrs. W. E. Andrews

MR. AND MRS. Walter Herman and Mrs. Agnes Borah, Bloomfield, N. J. were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Kreimoyer.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bishop, Bethlehem, called on Mr. and Mrs. Henry Durkop. The Bishop family were the former proprietors of the American House.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton George, Trachville, visited Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Kresge.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kuehner and son Barry, Kunkletown, were the Sunday dinner guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Feiler.

William Andrews has secured employment at the R & R Factory, Pen Argyl, for the Summer. Contractor James Pudliner is erecting a bungalow along the Kresgeville-Big Creek pike for the Sterling Sherer family. Sherman Dorshimer has been hired as a truck driver for the Hahn Bros. Coal Trucking Co. of this place.

Viewing the Screens

SPORTS TAKE OVER television in a big way today. Four baseball games, a golf tournament and a horse race are the major attractions to be viewed locally. First baseball game pits the Phillies against the Cubs at 1:30 (Ch. 6). At 1:55, there will be two contests: Dodgers vs. Braves (Ch. 9) and Giants vs. Redlegs (Ch. 11). The night game at Cleveland between the Indians and Yankees will be telecast by Ch. 11 starting at 8.

The 1956 Open Golf Championships will be telecast over Channels 3 & 4 starting at 4 p. m. The Belmont Stakes, third tier in horse racing's "triple crown," will be presented by Ch. 2 at 4:30. Ch. 4 will offer "Championship Bowling" at 3 p. m. For those who still consider wrestling as a sport, tune in to Ch. 5 at 9:30.

"Adventure Theater," hosted by Paul Douglas, will be the summer replacement for "Your Hit Parade" on Channels 3 & 4 at 10:30. Tonight's premiere is "Thirty Days to Die," in which a caustic drama critic reads in horror a plan to murder him in the script of a play by an avenging playwright.

Ch. 3 (WRCV, Philadelphia) inaugurates a new live local program tonight (7-7:30) which it hopes will make thousands of Philadelphians sit up and take notice of their city law enforcement departments. Entitled "Assignment Philadelphia," the show will endeavor to show the violence of a big city, then proceed to probe into the how, why and wherefore of the hundreds of crimes committed in the city every day.

Sunday Television
An actual operation showing the advances made in cataract surgery will feature "The March of Medicine" program Sunday at 5:30 p. m. (Channels 3 & 4). Highlights of the American Medical Association convention in Chicago will also be shown in a part of the program entitled "Progress Report—1956."

One of the reports will point out that the average man plays more attention to the "health" of his car than he does to his own. A survey showed 80 per cent of the people interviewed endorsed the idea of an annual physical checkup, but only 29 per cent of them followed their own advice.

Big Hit
The George Kauffman-Howard Teichmann play was one of the big hits of the 1955-56 season in New York. Miss Burke will be seen in the role of a timid elderly lady who throws a huge corporation's annual stockholders meeting into a panic when she asks its officers some hard questions.

They attempt to bribe her into silence by giving her a meaningless job as director of stockholder relations. That's when the fun begins. Cast with Miss Burke in the play are Milo Boulton, Iggy Wolfington, Reynolds Evans (from the original cast), Maurice Burke, Susan Willis, Elaine Swan, James Gilderleeve and Jon Richards.

John O'Shaughnessy will supervise the production. The scenic design will be by Bailou. The play continues through Saturday, June 23 with 2:40 matinees on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

Committed To Jail
OSCAR M. Haymer, Jr., 32, of Delaware Water Gap, yesterday was committed to the Monroe County Jail to await action on a morals charge involving a teenage girl. Justice of the Peace Frank C. Howard was the committing authority, and Police Chief Fred Decker of Delaware Water Gap was the committing officer.

Rev. Dennis To Speak At Bangor High

BANGOR—The annual baccalaureate address to the graduating class of the Bangor Area Joint High School will be given by the Rev. William E. Dennis, pastor of the Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church of Bangor, in services to be held in the high school auditorium tomorrow. The program will start at 7 p. m. The title of his address is, "Toward Real Hope."

Rev. Dennis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Dennis, of Scott St., Stroudsburg.

Ninety-nine graduating seniors and members of the faculty will participate in the annual academic procession preceding the address. The Bangor Area High School Mixed Chorus will render an anthem, "One God," by Roy Ringwald.

Commencement exercises for the class are scheduled for Wednesday night, when Donald V. Hock, mayor of Allentown, will be the speaker. These exercises will also be held in the high school auditorium.

CHAMBER MUSIC MASTER for annual Tamiment Festival June 21 through 24 will be Milan Kaderavet. He's winner of the $1,000 Tamiment String Quartet Composition Contest for 1956. Kaderavet is a teacher at Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa. His work will be given its premiere performance by Curtis String Quartet on Friday evening, June 22 at 9.

Penn State Workshop For Management Opens Tuesday

MOUNT POCONO—Fifth annual Pennsylvania State University Management Workshop will be held in this area during June 19-22 here at the High Point Inn. The theme to be considered is "Effective Three-Way Communications."

Interest in this subject is inspired by the universal idea that communication is the core of all effective organized human activity. This is equally true in business organization.

Enthusiasm
General enthusiasm for the Management Workshop has grown to such an extent that this year, for the first time, participants will come from the entire north-eastern section of Pennsylvania. The Penn State Centers of Allentown, Hazleton, Pottsville, Wilkes-Barre and Scranton are co-operating with the Management Training Staff of Pennsylvania State University in this Workshop.

A number of representatives from industry and business will participate. Here, for example, are a few: J. S. Viese Jr., assistant director, employee relations department, Pennsylvania Power and Light Company, Allentown; Robert A. Lambert, personnel manager, Wise Potato Chip Co., Berwick; Professor Paul S. Beaver, supervisor of management training, specialist in the field of industrial human relations.

Arrangements for the Management Workshop are being handled by G. Ralph Noble, assistant administrative head at the High-acres Campus, Penn State University Hazleton Center.

The Daily Record Tour Guide

A weekly feature of places to go and things to see in the beautiful Pocono Mountains area.

Delaware Water Gap Is Eighth Wonder Of World

NORTHWARD from Portland and Columbia along Alt. Route 611 and Alt. 611, the rocky magnificence of the Delaware Water Gap dominates the Delaware River. Clearly indicated in the rugged mountain sides is evidence of rock being crushed upward by unknown forces, probably at the same time the earth was cooling into shape.

Some scientists say that a great inland lake once covered the region north of the Gap and the Indians of the region took the name "Minisink," meaning "the water is gone."

However, the Gap as it is today is the work of water against stone for countless ages, with the river a decisive victor.

From the minute you see the Delaware River flowing quietly under the frowning mountains of the Delaware Water Gap until you've finished your tour of the region you will see the struggle of nature. Everywhere water fights rock. Sometimes it oozes down solid cliffs, more often it rushes through rock filled streams. The fight becomes three-cornered when vegetation strikes back at both water and rock. This is the phase of nature's struggle which produces the towering trees and the rampant wild flowers. More important, this is what produces the laurel and the rhododendron for which the Pocono area are famous from mid-June to mid-July.

Legend Of Winona Dates Back Over Two Centuries

Over two centuries ago in the valley of the Minisink a chieftain named Wiamonking reigned. He was the head of the then all-powerful tribe known as the Lenni-Lenape. Winona was his beloved and carefully brought up daughter, who received every benefit, care, and solicitude he and his culture could provide.

Winona seemed to be drawn to the society of the cultivated ladies of the white settlement that settled in Minisink. Her beauty, her dignified but gentle manner, and her desire to learn of the white ladies and to adopt their customs soon made her a big favorite and she came to be called Princess Winona by them.

explorer sent by the Holland government to Minisink to examine what was supposed to be a rich mine of copper. Soon after his arrival he met the young Indian Princess. On one of his visits they planned a canoe trip to the Water Gap, and then a hike up the mountain to view the scenery.

Just before this time, however, the English captured New York, and orders were sent to Van Allen to abandon the mining operations and report to his government immediately. The news was a blow to Hendrick who wished to marry Winona, but his relation to his government was such as to make it impossible to take her with him as his wife.

Hendrick met Winona at the time appointed for their trip, and in their climb of the mountain he was very quiet, wondering how to break the news to Winona. When he disclosed the news, Winona, without unusual emotion, stood up, bade farewell, and darted swiftly away. Hendrick, who at first did not realize her purpose, ran after her, caught her in his arms at the edge of the cliff . . . and both were

A Trip To Delaware Water Gap

TAKE ROUTE 611 South through Stroudsburg and continue straight (signs on the highway point to Wild Animal Farm road on the left).

Turn to the right past Hickory Valley Farms to Alternate Route 611, through the famous old resort town of Delaware Water Gap. You'll pass Melick's on the left, and a block later the Green Lantern Gift Shop. Continue on Alternate 611 through the Gap region.

Shortly after leaving the village of Delaware Water Gap you'll see an Appalachian Trail marker on the right hand side of the road ("... from Maine to Georgia"). To your left as you drive is New Jersey, on the other side of the Delaware River; to your right, sheer cliffs.

At spots water trickles down these cliffs, flowing into a bed under the road, down the left bank, and into the Delaware River. You'll see The Bear Stop on your left as you reach the widest expanse of view of the Gap. Continue on to the village of Portland.

SPLENDID views of the Delaware Water Gap and surrounding country may be obtained from a number of points if you care to do a bit of hiking. In the town of Delaware Water Gap take a sharp

At Portland proceed to toll bridge (clearly marked by signs). Toll here is 25c. Distance so far, approximately eight miles. Cross the Portland Bridge into Columbia, N. J., continuing straight north now on 611. Good divided highway here; you'll pass under several bridges.

As you continue on this new highway, cut through sheer rock, you'll find the immensity and proximity of these huge bare boulders almost overwhelming. To your left now is the Pennsylvania side, the little trickles of water you earlier saw coming down the mountain side now break down the cliffs like miniature water falls and flow into the river.

Continue straight 'til you come to the Delaware Water Gap toll bridge; another 25c and you're back in Pennsylvania. Drive past Ronson's new industrial plant on the left; over the shoulder glances rewarding you with the Delaware Water Gap fading into the distance as you continue straight on 611 to Stroudsburg. Total trip, less than twenty miles.

THE DELAWARE WATER GAP, which cuts through the Kittatinny Mountain Range, is truly one of the great scenic wonders of our country. Its rugged glacial sides tower to an elevation of 1,600 feet. From the northern side you can see the Delaware River as it flows through the valley; the wild rockiness of the south side replaced by tree covered slopes which seem to fade into the river.

Poconos Rich In Historical Lore, Legend; Lost Village Of Resica's Story Unmatched

TRADITIONALLY rich in their placid lakes, lively streams and spectacular waterfalls; their rhododendron and mountain Laurel, the official state flower just now opening; their wooded hiking trails and picturesque bridal paths; their quiet and quiet retreats; their ornate hostels, and their many gay resorts for the younger set, the Poconos have still an additional offering:

They are a veritable treasure chest of historical lore and legend, an unexplored adventureland of fact and fancy, a dim but alluring stage of the past upon which passed the explorers, the early Dutch, French and German settlers, the Moravian missionaries and — the Redman.

For the explorers-at-heart, for the historians who take their history for fun, here are some pieces of resistance, by way of suggestion:

Indian Legends

Get to know more really about the famed Delaware Water Gap; how it was formed by mountain-crushing glaciers; and learn about Mt. Minisink and Mt. Tammam, ter-minial of the ranges facing each other at the river. Garner in the fabulous Indian legends and—facts, especially those surrounding the great Chief Tammamond who was dubbed Saint Tammany, the patron saint of America.

Revel in such myths as The Lover's Leap, on Mt. Minisink, "location" for the romantic legend of Princess Winona and the dashing young Dutchman, Hendrick Van Allen.

Enjoy the fascination of a better life safely remote—a acquaintance with the young, fierce, highly intelligent chieftain, Teoyuscung, the swashbuckling "King of the Delawareans." The accounts of his massacres might prove a bit gory, but the reasons for them not always beyond the guilt of the white man.

Find the lost village of Resica, and you'll find a story unmatched in the ingredients of love and courage, devotion and tragedy. On its site this year opened one of the largest Boy Scout camps to be found anywhere.

Sullivan's March

Garner in the factual tales of General John Sullivan's march to the north which exterminated the long-endured Indian menace.

And don't forget the stories behind the four French and Indian War forts in the county—Hyndshaw at Bushkill, Hamilton at Stroudsburg, DePui at Shawnee and Norris near Crescoville. They brought Teoyuscung, whose family was baptized in the Moravian faith and whom William Penn defended, around to a treaty of peace.

But now, for the "explorer's" take-off, is a brief account of the first settlers. It's been supplied by Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, head of the Department of Social Studies, East Stroudsburg State Teachers College:

"The area within our county limits, north of the Blue Mountains which form Delaware Water Gap, was the home of about one hundred families. At Shawnee, a farming community had grown around the home of the original settler, Nicholas DePui. A road crossed the mountains from Shawnee to the Bushkill area where another cluster of dwellings was located

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your future. Count the letters in your last name. If the number of letters is 6 or more subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. You read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Pam Ulrich —
Miss Pennsylvania

First Step Toward Goal:

Miss Pocono Mountains To Be Crowned At College Tonight

MISS POCONO Mountains Pageant will be staged in the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College auditorium at 8:30 p.m. The pageant, a preliminary contest of the National Miss America Pageant, is scheduled to present some of the best talent in the Poconos and the winner of the title "Miss Pocono Mountains" will be crowned by the present Miss Pennsylvania.

In July of this year a new reigning queen for the State of Pennsylvania will be chosen from a group of lovely and talented daughters of this state who participate in the State Finals in West Chester where Miss Pocono Mountains will vie for "Miss Pennsylvania 1956."

Miss Pam Ulrich, who was Miss Reading in last year's state finals, will relinquish her title of Miss Pennsylvania 1955 to the new winner in July. Pam, who will be married in September to Arthur Dunlop of Reading, will be one of the highlights in the local pageant when she is introduced by Tom Waring, master of ceremonies and a member of the Waring Organization. The climax of the presentation will be the crowning of Miss Pocono Mountains by Pam.

A carried program of entertainment will be featured during the show, and the following girls will take part in the contest: Joan Fischl, Joan Mudry, Ruth Fetherman, Jane Lipe, Jeanne Poortstra, Marilyn Miller, Rosemary Lobb, and Katherine Mertz. Music for the pageant will be furnished by Wallace Hornbrook, well known pianist, and director of Music Methodist Church at the East Stroudsburg.

A panel of five judges will decide on the winner and the decision of judges is final. During the period of time that the judges are voting, the Seven Swingsters, a dance band composed of local young musicians specializing in Dixieland tempo will play for entertainment of the audience.

Miss Pocono Mountains Pageant, under the sponsorship of the Exchange Club of East Stroudsburg, is directed by Mrs. Robert Miller, Stroudsburg, Larry Schoenberger and Gordon Coy, Sr. of the Exchange Club are serving as co-chairmen for the event. Tickets will be available at the door.

Firemen Complete Plans For Carnival

MOUNT POCONO—With an attendance of 40 members, the Mount Pocono Volunteer Fire Co. held its meeting this week in the fire hall. President Charles Brock presided.

The meeting was given over mostly to discussion about the annual summer carnival. Louis DePaul, chairman of the carnival, announced that final arrangements have been made and the date set for July 23 to 28.

Party—It was decided to have a kick-off party for members of the fire company and the women's auxiliary on Saturday, June 30 at 9 p.m., in the fire hall.

After the business meeting, a buffet lunch was enjoyed.

On Tuesday two trucks and several men under the direction of Fire Chief Ernest Bisbing put out a fire along the railroad tracks before it gained much headway.

Miss Mae Post, of Cherry Valley, and Mrs. Norbert Murphy of Brooklyn, called on Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Treble of East Stroudsburg. Other recent callers at the Treble home were Mr. and Mrs. Orien Lambert. The Trebles for some years residents here, sold their home in Cherry Valley to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hillard and purchased the Jack Vinard property and bungalow in town.

Peter LaBar celebrated his 7th birthday Saturday, at a party at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. LaBar. Ten little boys were present. Outdoor games were moved inside because of weather.

Fults Funeral Services Held

SOUTH STERLING—Funeral services for Garland Fults, LaAnna, part owner of Newfoundland Lumber Co., were held at Frey funeral home Thursday.

Rev. Harry Roof officiated. Interment was made in Pine Grove Cemetery. Pallbearers were Sidney Stoner, Herbert Gilpin, Arthur Pellett, Albert Lanuti, Harry Hartzell and Jack Crocker.

Heart Attack—Mr. Fults was suddenly stricken with a heart attack Monday while at work. He died en route to a Scranton hospital. He was 66.

Surviving, in addition to his wife, the former Reba Blitz, are three daughters, Mrs. Bernice Hancock, Long Beach, Calif.; Mrs. Alta King, Mattoon, Ill.; and Mrs. Viola Ehlers, Waterloo, Iowa.
